Sovereign Debt and Rating Agency Bias D. Tennant, M. Tracey, 2017-08-15 Sovereign Debt and Credit Rating Bias rejects the notion that credit rating agencies rigorous and transparent determination of ratings leaves no room for bias and debunks the myth that the value CRAs place on their reputational capital precludes prolonged biases To determine the extent of CRAs biased actions Tennant and Tracey apply a rigorous methodology to a well established economic model of the determinants of sovereign debt quality They present strong evidence of bias against poor countries and demonstrate how biased rating changes could disadvantage such countries and the companies operating therein as they seek access to international capital markets They discuss plausible explanations for the bias and suggest remedial measures that would help ensure balance in credit rating changes This book fills an important gap by rigorously examining a long standing but often ignored concern about the rating practices of credit rating agencies Sovereign Debt and Rating Agency Bias D. Sinclair,2021-11-15 To the Brink of Destruction exposes how America's rating agencies helped generate the global financial crisis of 2007 and beyond surviving and thriving in the aftermath Despite widespread scrutiny rating agencies continued to operate on the same business model and wield extraordinary power exerting extensive influence over public policy Timothy J Sinclair brings the shadowy corners of this story to life by examining congressional testimony showing how the wheels of accountability turned and ultimately failed during the crisis He asks how and why the agencies risked their lucrative franchise by aligning so closely with a process of financial innovation that came undone during the crisis What he finds is that key institutions including the agencies changed from being judges to being advocates years before the crisis eliminating a vital safety valve meant to hinder financial excess Sinclair's well researched investigation offers a clear accessible explanation of structured finance and how it works To the Brink of Destruction avoids tired accusations instead providing novel insight into the role rating agencies played in the worst crisis of modern global capitalism      Africa in the Global Economy Gorden Moyo, 2024-03-22 This book discusses the role played by powerful global institutions such as the IMF the World Bank the World Trade Organisation multinational corporations and the international credit rating agencies in keeping Africa marginalised in the world economy The book focuses on the intrusive roles of these institutions as enablers and beneficiaries of capital outflows and financial subordination in Africa Diverging from the official narrative that touts China and the other emerging economies as global reformers that are poised to partner Africa in its fight against financial subjugation the book instead argues that like the Western powers the emerging economies are benefiting prodigiously from a rigged global financial system that keeps Africa as a net creditor to the rest of the world The book draws its theoretical framework from the repressed heterodox theories including dependency core periphery world systems and Marxist theories as well as the decolonial approach It concludes with a call for a decolonial African agency that should champion an epistemic rebellion against the neo liberal and neo classic economic traditions that have been historically deployed to justify Africa's subordinated position in the global economic governance This book comes at moment in time when Africa is ready to become a Rule Maker not a Rule Taker The analysis Dr Moyo presents having been in the front line of public policy and international negotiations demonstrate the need for Africa to re write the rules to foster our own Transformation Jason Rosario Braganza Executive Director African Forum and Network on Debt and Development AFRODAD The Governance of Credit Rating Agencies Andrea Miglionico, The global crisis revealed that credit rating agencies CRAs are capable of bringing about potential distortions in the financial sector thereby resulting in a reduction in market confidence which in turn influences negotiations and expectations CRAs need to be held accountable for lack of transparency and inaccurate ratings however the existing regulatory framework does not secure adequate investor protection This book provides a new and important contribution to research in the area at a crucial time in the debate around financial regulation and investment regimes Economic Survey ,2020 Global Financial Stability Report ,2012 The Rating Agencies and Their Credit Ratings Herwig M. Langohr, Patricia Langohr, 2008 This title is a guide to ratings the ratings industry and the mechanics and economics of obtaining a rating It sheds light on the role that the agencies play in the international financial markets International Banking and Financial Market Developments ,2015-12 Credit Rating Agencies and Their Potential Impact on Developing Countries Marwan Elkhoury, 2008 Standard & Poor's Counterparty Ratings Guide ,1999 The Journal of International Communication ,2002 Standard & Poor's Global Credit Perspectives ,1995 Is it (still) Mostly Fiscal? Emanuele Baldacci, Sanjeev Gupta, Amine Mati, 2008 Using a panel of 30 emerging market economies from 1997 to 2007 this paper investigates the determinants of country risk premiums as measured by sovereign bond spreads Unlike previous studies the results indicate that both fiscal and political factors matter for credit risk in emerging markets Lower levels of political risk are associated with tighter spreads while efforts at fiscal consolidation narrow credit spreads especially in countries that experienced prior defaults The composition of fiscal policy matters spending on public investment contributes to lower spreads as long as the fiscal position remains sustainable and the fiscal deficit does not worsen      Emerging Markets Debt Report ,2000      Credit Ratings and the Japanese Corporate Bond Market Frank Packer,2000
