Sowing with Confidence Marcia Shannon,2013-03-03 As I look over my life I realize there has been a pattern of my travelling from the pit to the palace Just as Joseph's brothers threw him a pit because of his own prideful arrogance so was I in the pit of finances due to my own poor decisions Through each pit I dug God processed me out and into the palace on top of the situation and directed me to the place of victory This book is about the financial principles I learned as I transitioned from being on welfare to working in the welfare office From being in a homeless shelter to working in a homeless shelter From working to fulfill someone else's vision to receiving my own God given vision to empower the disenfranchised My process was not an overnight one but if you will consider applying these principles you will undoubtedly move from the pit of your circumstances to the palace of your circumstances as I did Further If you know of anyone who does not believe tithing works please give them this book or better yet apply the principle of sowing and buy it for them Sow this book into their lives because what you make happen for others God will make happen for you I know because I have seen it happen in my life over and over again which is why I decided to share it in this book It is my prayer that after reading my book you will be inspired to start your journey from the pit to the palace with a renewed passion to sow with confidence

The Investment of Influence Newell Dwight Hillis,1897    The Investment of Influence: A Study of Social Sympathy and Service Newell Dwight Hillis,2022-09-16 In The Investment of Influence A Study of Social Sympathy and Service Newell Dwight Hillis presents a compelling exploration of the role of social influence in fostering community and individual growth Employing a blend of eloquent prose and practical insights Hillis delves into the interconnectedness of social sympathy outlining the moral imperative of mutual aid in an increasingly industrialized society The book rooted in the progressive ideals of the early 20th century reflects a growing awareness of the responsibilities that accompany one's social status and the need for compassionate action in service of others Newell Dwight Hillis was a prominent American clergyman and writer whose experiences in the burgeoning urban environment of the early 1900s shaped his views on social ethics As a leader in the Chicago Congregational Church and an influential lecturer Hillis was deeply concerned with the challenges posed by modernity including poverty and isolation His profound commitment to social justice and community service is reflected in this work making it a significant addition to his oeuvre and to contemporary discussions on social responsibility Hillis's insightful examination is not only a historical look at social dynamics but remains profoundly relevant today Readers interested in social change ethics and the power of individual influence will find this work both inspiring and foundational The Investment of Influence is essential for anyone seeking to understand the moral dimensions of their societal roles and the transformative power of collective compassion

has an instrument panel In the Christian faith peace does as well To be just one indicator of peace can be as important as knowing the plane you're in is sound and flightworthy Pilots continually check the indicators on their instrument panels to stay on course and ensure a secure and comfortable flight They depend on the readings of each of the instruments and the passengers depend on the pilot In Make Me an Instrument author Tom Kingery explains how the church is your plane taking you through the skies with Jesus as the pilot and the pastor as a flight attendant You're not in it just for the ride You're an instrument of peace You help make the ride better smoother and more comfortable He tells how the first petition of the Prayer of Saint Francis is to be an instrument of God's Peace Saint Francis of Assisi believed back in the thirteenth century that Christians should pray to be instruments of God's peace As instruments of peace you can share your hope with others You can't give faith to anyone else only God can do that It's up to them to receive it Like mechanical instruments you can't make them operate but you can plug them into a source of power
