Adoptive Families in a Diverse Society Katarina Weegar, 2006 Adoptive Families in a Diverse Society brings together twenty one prominent scholars to explore the experience practice and policy of adoption in North America While much existing literature tends to stress the potential problems inherent in non biological kinship the essays in this volume consider adoptive family life in a broad and balanced context Bringing new perspectives to the topics of kinship identity and belonging this path breaking book expands more than our understandings of adoptive family life it urges us to rethink the limits and possibilities of diversity and assimilation in American society

Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein, 2005-02-16 Despite the fact that most people become parents and everyone who has ever lived has had parents parenting remains a mystifying subject about which almost everyone has opinions but about which few people agree Striking permutations on the theme of parenting are emerging single parenthood blended families lesbian and gay parents and teen versus fifties first time moms and dads Divided into four volumes the Handbook of Parenting is concerned with different types of parents basic characteristics of parenting forces that shape parenting problems faced by parents and the practical sides of parenting Contributors have worked in different ways toward understanding all of these diverse aspects of parenting and look to the most recent research and thinking in the field to shed light on many topics every parent has wondered about Because development is too subtle dynamic and intricate to admit that parental caregiving alone determines the course and outcome of ontogeny volume 1 concerns how children influence parenting Volume 2 relates parenting to its biological roots and sets parenting in its ecological framework Volume 3 distinguishes among the cast of characters responsible for parenting and is revealing of the psychological make ups and social interests of those individuals Volume 4 describes problems of parenting as well as the promotion of positive parenting practices Written to be read and absorbed in a single sitting each chapter addresses a different but central topic in parenting and is rooted in current thinking and theory as well as classic and modern research on that topic All chapters follow a standard organization including an introduction to the chapter as a whole followed by historical considerations of the topic a discussion of central issues and theory a review of classic and modern research forecasts of future directions for theory and research and a conclusion In addition to considering their own convictions and research the chapter contributors present and broadly interpret all major points of view and central lines of inquiry

Eastern European Adoption Josephine A. Ruggiero, 2017-09-08 Between 1990 and 2006 more than 76 000 children born in Eastern Europe were adopted into American families Almost two thirds of these children came from Russia And in contrast to children adopted from Korea China Central America and South America most of the Russian children were not infants but between one and four years old This volume addresses adoption policies and practices as they pertain to adopted children from Eastern Europe children who have histories of pre adoption adversity Drawing on her decade long experience as an adoptive parent of siblings born in Russia and her expertise as an applied sociologist Josephine Ruggiero examines the central issues involved in international adoptions focusing on older children as well as siblings and suggesting needed changes in policy and practice Regardless of whether children are adopted domestically or internationally age is a significant factor in their ability to adjust to and function well in their new families Only about three in ten Russian adoptees joined their new families as infants Pre adoption experiences are also significant factors in a child s ability to adjust and function well in a new family Countries differ in risk factors that may figure into the likelihood of adoptees adapting to life in a new family Fetal Alcohol Syndrome serious medical conditions emotional problems behavioral problems attachment issues learning disabilities and exposure to family violence must be considered as potential risk factors in adoptions Pre adoption adversity is less likely when children come from birth families that are economically poor but have bonded with them At a time when adoption has finally come out of the closet and the definition of the family is changing dramatically Eastern European Adoption takes a much needed look at current adoption policies and practices and how well they do or do not work Ruggiero draws on the literature on older child and sibling adoption and data from a questionnaire survey she designed and conducted with 121 adoptive parents Ruggiero s examples from real adoptive families give a human face to the issues needs and strategies she discusses Families in Society ,2008 Special Needs

advocates and triad members explore the similarities and differences between adoptees placed as infants and as older children. The book promotes better integration of theory, practice, policy, and research in working with clients who are members of the adoption triad: adoptees, birth parents, and adoptive families. For the first time, the separate practice areas are bridged, pointing out the significant overlap between the two populations and the similar interventions that can be used when working with adoptees regardless of their age at placement. Developed as a resource text for practitioners, researchers, students, and adoptive triad members, the first chapter provides an overview of the clinical and practice issues. Next, the work presents issues surrounding infertility and explores identity development with a following chapter on search and reunion issues. The fifth chapter discusses adoption support both historically and with current developments and issues. The work then examines ethics and offers a model for ethical adoption practice. The final chapter explores treatment issues from a family systems perspective.
