Framing Indonesian Realities Peter J.M. Nas, G.A. Persoon, 2021-10-01 Ritual language wild and domestic animals and objects of material culture like houses palaces and works of art are often loaded with symbolic meaning Reading the landscape or giving meaning to the natural environment is a cultural act as well and one must discover what mountains coastlines and islands mean to different groups of people In this book written on the occasion of Professor Reimar Schefold's retirement from the Department of Cultural Anthropology at Leiden University colleagues and former students from the Netherlands and abroad demonstrate the variety and wealth of the field of symbolic anthropology The regional focus of the book is Indonesia The studies presented range from small island communities in western northern and eastern Indonesia to urban settlements in Java and Sumatra All the contributions are in one way or another related to Reimar Schefold's work over the past thirty five years work that includes extensive studies on material culture rituals and the use of symbols in the expression of ethnicity among the various cultural groups of Indonesia

System Analysis of Ambulatory Care in Selected Countries Peter L. Reichertz, Rolf Engelbrecht, Ursula Piccolo, 2013-03-13 The Working Group 5 of the International Medical Informatics Association IMIA is dedicated to information systems in primary care with special emphasis on computer systems in the doctor's office Accordingly a conference was held in Hannover in 1980 where the first approaches were described and experiences in system analysis system construction and evaluation were discussed Rienhoff O and Abrams M E eds The Computer in the Doctor's Office North Holland Amsterdam 1980 Computer hardware and software development has been rapid over the last years Thus the prerequisites for a successful support of the work of the physician in his office have improved But system construction still lags behind and the actual penetration of systems is lower than 2 % of the doctors' offices in most countries This applies to industrialized countries However attempts are made everywhere to improve primary care by means of modern information technology Information systems depend upon the real environment into which they are placed administrative procedures govern priorities and procedures in doctor's office computers possibilities to defray cost upon the various carriers or the patients have a great influence on the propagation of systems Furthermore various procedures of accounting or reimbursement may lead to a facilitation or to a delay of the introduction of systems The art of medical practice has reached a comparable standard within at least the industrialized countries Boekblad, 1994

Game-Theoretic Models of the Political Influence of Interest Groups Randolph Sloof, 2013-11-11 In this chapter the topic of this book is introduced Section 1.1 provides a brief and rather general motivation for the scientific project undertaken here Interest groups are a very popular object of scientific inquiry and they received already considerable research attention from scholars in political science as well as from researchers in economics Necessarily then this book adds to a literature which is already quite developed A detailed positioning in this literature of the theoretical material presented in this monograph will be given in Chapter 2 This second chapter will also by means of a review of the empirical literature provide a more general overview of the issues deemed to be important when studying the influence of interest groups on public policy The outline of the entire book is described in greater detail in Section 1.2 As most issues involved are more easily presented in later chapters this introductory chapter is kept brief 1.1 MOTIVATION Substantial political power is often attributed to interest groups Examples abound in both the economics and political science literature as well as in journalistic accounts and popular publications On many occasions the authors express concerns about the negative impact of interest groups on the democratic quality of government The interests of a small group are served at the expense of the interests of the general public the taxpayers is an often heard popular complaint
