Evaluation and Action Research Linnea L. Rademaker, Elena Y. Polush, 2022 Today's societies require research approaches that are creative, sensitive to cultural and contextual diversity, rooted in engagement and critical dispositions and situated within local contexts. Action research and evaluation are inquiries into and about human lives. Both modes generate actionable data in specific contexts to facilitate positive social change and to further social justice. This book explores the potential of integrating action research and evaluation frameworks to encourage knowledge democracy, data literacy and ethical practices. The authors draw a clear connection between program enactment and program goals, investigating the processes of design, qualitative and quantitative data collection and analysis, and mixed methods considerations. Key questions include why is a new research paradigm needed? How do we define data literacy? How do we understand equitable societies? Working from the belief that knowledge is created constantly in our world by those in real world settings and practical contexts, Evaluation and Action Research provides practitioners with an accessible guide to better inform practice and decision making.

Statistics and Probability in Forensic Anthropology Zuzana Obertová, Alistair Stewart, Cristina Cattaneo, 2020-07-28 Statistics and Probability in Forensic Anthropology provides a practical guide for forensic scientists, primarily anthropologists and pathologists, on how to design studies, how to choose and apply statistical approaches and how to interpret statistical outcomes in the forensic practice. As with other forensic medical and biological disciplines, statistics have become increasingly important in forensic anthropology and legal medicine, but there is not a single book which specifically addresses the needs of forensic anthropologists in relation to the research undertaken in the field and the interpretation of research outcomes and case findings within the setting of legal proceedings. The book includes the application of both frequentist and Bayesian statistics in relation to topics relevant for the research and the interpretation of findings in forensic anthropology, as well as general chapters on study design and statistical approaches addressing measurement errors and reliability. Scientific terminology understandable to students and advanced practitioners of forensic anthropology, pathology and related disciplines is used throughout. Additionally, Statistics and Probability in Forensic Anthropology facilitates sufficient understanding of the statistical procedures and data interpretation based on statistical outcomes and models which helps the reader confidently present their work within the forensic context, either in the form of case reports for legal purposes or as research publications for the scientific community. Contains the application of both frequentist and Bayesian statistics in relation to topics relevant for forensic anthropology research and the interpretation of findings. Provides examples of study designs and their statistical solutions, partly following the layout of scientific manuscripts on common topics in the field. Includes scientific terminology understandable to students and advanced practitioners of forensic anthropology, legal medicine and related disciplines.

Doing the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning, Measuring Systematic Changes to Teaching and Improvements in Learning Regan A. R. Gurung, Janie H. Wilson, 2014-01-02 The Scholarship of Teaching and Learning SoTL should be an integral part of every academic's life representing not only the pinnacle of effortful teaching but also standing side by side with more conventional disciplinary scholarship. Although practiced by many instructors for years SoTL has garnered national attention resulting in a spate of new journals to publish pedagogical research. SoTL helps students, fosters faculty development, and has been integrated into higher education. This volume provides readers with challenges that will motivate them to engage in SoTL and take their pedagogical research further. We include many key features aimed to help both the teacher new to research and SoTL and also researchers who may have a long list of scholarly publications in non-pedagogical areas and who have not conducted research. This is the 136th volume of this Jossey Bass higher education series. It offers a comprehensive range of ideas and techniques for improving college teaching based on the experience of seasoned instructors and the latest findings of educational and psychological researchers.

A Practical Research Process for Developing a Sustainable Built Environment in Emerging Economies Andrew Ebekozien, Clinton Ohis Aigbavboa, Wellington Didibhuku Thwala, 2025-02-19

A Practical Research Process for Developing a Sustainable Built Environment in Emerging Economies aims to fill the dearth of practical research guidance and reference material with specific focus on the built environment in developing countries. Global policy agendas such as Agenda 2030 the SDGs highlight the importance and growth of research and knowledge from emerging nations who are increasingly contributing to research that is critical for development and advancement. The role of built environment practitioners will continue to evolve by building on the sound foundations laid down by the professions and by exploiting to the full the new technologies available to us through conducting innovative research but more guidance on the research process is necessary to ensure the integrity and quality of the output. This book has been structured so that each chapter is largely free standing allowing the reader undergraduate, postgraduate or practitioner to reference the material with ease. It aims to provide practical guidance on conducting research and on writing a dissertation or report and begins by considering the general research background in a built environment context. It then covers research ethics before moving on to discuss the importance of selecting the right research topic and title and writing a clear abstract. The chapters then cover introducing a research project and the authors include a section on the problem statement, research questions, aims and objectives, research gaps and motivations for the study. The book goes on to cover the literature review section, theoretical and conceptual frameworks, the various types of methodological approaches and when to apply them. The findings section, discussion of the results and the study's implications are then discussed before the final chapters cover the conclusion and recommendations. The book provides a useful reference for higher education students, graduates, postgraduates and practitioners engaged in all aspects of construction and built environment research.

Andrew Watters, 2008-07-25. Need to learn statistics as part of your job or want some help passing a statistics course? Statistics in a Nutshell is a clear and concise introduction and reference that's perfect for anyone with no previous background in the subject. This book gives you a solid understanding of statistics without being too simple yet without the numbing complexity of most college texts. Organized into four distinct sections, Statistics in a Nutshell offers you introductory material, different ways to think about statistics, basic concepts of measurement and probability theory, data management for statistical analysis, research design and experimental design, how to critique statistics presented by others, basic inferential statistics, basic concepts of inferential statistics, the concept of correlation when it is and is not an appropriate measure of association, dichotomous and categorical data, the distinction between parametric and nonparametric statistics, advanced inferential techniques, the General Linear Model, analysis of variance (ANOVA) and MANOVA, multiple linear regression, specialized techniques, business and quality improvement statistics, medical and public health statistics, educational and psychological statistics. Unlike many introductory books on the subject, Statistics in a Nutshell doesn't omit important material in an effort to dumb it down.
