As a result of repeated exposure to trauma police and first responders have more than twice the risk of developing Posttraumatic Stress Disorder PTSD when compared to the general population. We often hear of the impact of PTSD and depression on police officers health and overall functioning including on their work performance. Both PTSD and depression are part of Operational Stress Injuries OSI which describe any persistent psychological difficulty that results from operational or service related duties. Next to depression and PTSD OSI includes anxiety disorders, substance use disorders, injury and pain, sleep disturbances and other conditions that may interfere with daily functioning. Importantly factors frequently observed in police officers such as burnout, moral injury and compassion fatigue present additional mental health issues further contribute to the maintenance and exacerbation of their psychological symptomatology thereby prolonging recovery and contributing to the chronicity of disability suffering and pain.
