Talking To The Audience Talking To The Audience:

Media Talk: Conversation Analysis and the Study of Broadcasting Ian Hutchby, 2005-12-16 Media Talk provides an accessible introduction to the analysis of the spoken word by examining linguistic and discursive aspects of broadcast media. Beginning with the observation that talk is central to all genres of radio and television, Ian Hutchby examines the forms of speech used by broadcasters as their primary means of communicating with audiences. He looks at a range of media forms and genres including televised audience debates, confrontational TV talk shows such as Oprah Winfrey and Ricki Lake, open line talk radio shows, advice giving broadcasts, news interviews, and political panel discussions. Hutchby argues that the study of talk provides insights into the very nature of mass communication and invites the reader into further consideration of a range of important issues such as the relationship between broadcasters and audiences and the public role of media output. The book not only describes the role of media talk but also provides detailed examples of analytical tools. It is key reading for students on courses in language and the media, media discourse, communication, and cultural studies.

Communicating with the Public Hansun Zhang Waring, Elizabeth Reddington, 2020-08-06 This book offers a collection of conversation analytic investigations into how one US-based philanthropic organization communicates its mission of improving public health. In contrast to political speeches or news interviews with prominent figures, much communication with the public involves the routine work undertaken by institutional representatives as they interact with external audiences. This book considers precisely how this work is accomplished. Communicating with the Public broadens the scope of conversation analysis by unveiling the interactive, multi-party and multi-modal nature of institutional messaging that might otherwise be construed as a scripted monologic undertaking. To this end, it examines a diverse array of contemporary platforms including webinars, podcasts, and television interviews, as well as face-to-face conversations following public talks and panel discussions. Chapters reveal how both foundation representatives and their interlocutors target messaging to specific audiences that may or may not be present, manage the logistics of delivering this messaging, and position themselves as credible experts or a unified institutional collective.
