

An abstract landscape painting featuring warm, earthy tones of orange, yellow, and brown. The composition is dominated by large, dark, textured shapes that resemble a body of water or a deep shadow, contrasting with the lighter, more textured areas above and to the right. Taking Measures Across the American Landscape James Corner, James M. Corner, Alex S. MacLean, 1996-01-01

Photographs and essays express the way the American landscape has been forged by various cultures in the past and what the possibilities are for its future design Jacket On Landscape Urbanism Dean Almy, 2007 The theme of this volume is Landscape Urbanism with the agenda of linking emergent theories of Landscape Urbanism with its contemporary practice While a few recent symposiums and articles have addressed components of the subject the underlying theoretical trajectory of this emergent field has still not been codified in an accessible way The publication of Volume 14 of CENTER will fill this void with the inclusion of a reprint series of historically significant texts combined with original articles by noted authors and emerging practitioners Liverpool and Manchester Photographic Journal William Crookes, T.A. Malone, George Shadbolt, J. Traill Taylor, William Blanchard Bolton, Thomas Bedding, 1899 Colonnade, 1995 Rick Joy, 2002-07-01 Rick Joy builds with remarkable sensitivity precision and grace The allure of his architecture is often quietly and seductively hidden in the sensual qualities of one's experiences the sounds smells tactile qualities and moods of his work Granite crunching underfoot the gentle trickle of water and the lacy shadow of a mesquite tree all stir the viewer's sensations The simplest things can evoke the deepest feelings Joy says The silence in great music is often more profound than the sounds The nine buildings shown in this the first monograph on Joy's work express his interest in making places that are transcendent moments of space light and matter In each of the projects the physical landscape its specific environment and its rich history are revealed and celebrated While many of the projects here use sustainable materials like rammed earth Joy's primary interest is in the quality of the spaces he makes He shows us how efficient and environmentally sensitive architecture can emerge as a byproduct from a quest for the timeless qualities that are always associated with great architecture Presented in the form of lush photography insightful narratives and revealing descriptions of his highly collaborative process this book will bring one to a closer understanding of one of the most interesting architects practicing today The Nation, 1996-07 A Place of Refuge Thomas Brent Smith, Donald J. Hagerty, 2008 Western painter Maynard Dixon once pronounced Arizona the magic name of a land bright and mysterious of sun and sand of tragedy and stark endeavor So long had I dreamed of it he professed that when I came there it was not strange to me Its sun was my sun its ground was my ground The California born Dixon 1875-1946 first traveled to Arizona in 1900 to absorb what he believed was a vanishing West Dixon found Arizona a visually inspiring and spiritual place that shaped the course of his paintings and ultimately defined him A Place of Refuge Maynard Dixon's Arizona is the first exhibition to focus solely on the renowned painter's depictions of Arizona subjects As early as 1903 Dixon referred to Arizona as home Although he spent most of his life in San Francisco Dixon lamented to friends that he longed for Arizona and the solitude of the desert and he frequently traversed the land's varied expanses In 1939 he made Tucson his winter home and spent his remaining years painting his beloved desert landscape In the confluence of Arizona's natural and cultural landscapes Dixon would become one of the West's most distinctive painters creating a body of work that established his place among the vanguard of artists who portrayed western subjects Thomas Brent Smith explores Dixon's remarkable departure from traditional depictions of human conflict in the Old West rendered by such predecessors as Frederic Remington Charles M Russell and Charles Schreyvogel Smith's essay describes this shift in artistic ideology and analyzes the tranquil images that emerged on Dixon's canvases Donald J Hagerty's biographical essay highlights Dixon's travels and his affinity for the people and landscape of Arizona Dimensions, 2006 Dimensions is the annual student produced journal of architecture at the University of Michigan It seeks to contribute to the critical discourse of architectural education by documenting the most compelling work produced by its students faculty fellows and visiting lecturers
