

Government	Birthplace of Democracy Direct Democracy—“government by the people”—a government in which people vote to make their own rules and laws	Republican Government Representative Democracy—“republican”—a government in which the people vote (at least) a smaller group of citizens to make the rules and laws for everyone	ancient Mali was ruled by kings. The kings of Mali were rich and powerful men who controlled trade in West Africa. Mali became one of the largest and wealthiest empires in the region and was an important trade center. Mansa Musa and Sundiata were two of Mali's famous kings.
Architecture	Ancient Greece and Rome used columns and arches in the construction of their buildings. Ancient examples still exist today.  The Parthenon was the most famous building in Greece. It had columns all the way around it. Columns are tall-cylinder shaped pillars that hold the roof up. It was a temple to honor a goddess. The Colosseum was the most famous stadium in Rome. It had aqueducts and arches all the way around it. An arch is a curved stone construction. It was also a place where crowds of people would come to watch gladiator fights, comedians perform, chariot races, and men wrestle. It was a place for entertainment. 	The heleto was an important city in Mali. It had a famous university with a large library containing Greek and Roman books.
Arts	Ancient Greeks and Romans displayed masters. (pictures made out of tiny broken pieces of tile), sculpture in stone that has been carved/created to make a statue), and paintings on buildings. They also made pottery which were items created from moist clay, then baked to become hard.  Mosaic  Sculpture  Pottery	Many storytellers in Mali passed on stories and traditions from one generation to the next. These storytellers were called griots.
Interesting Facts	Sports were very popular in ancient Greece.  The Olympic Games of today are modeled after the games of ancient Greece.	The Romans invented aqueducts to which transported water from one place to another. This helped people get fresh, clean water for drinking and bathing. 	Mali lay across the trade routes between the sources of salt in the Sahara Desert and the gold regions of West Africa. For the people of the desert, salt was a valuable natural resource. People used salt for their health and for preserving foods. Akanes found gold in Western Africa. Therefore, salt was traded for gold.
