Thomas Telford Anthony Burton,2015-06-17 Thomas Telford s life was extraordinary born in the Lowlands of Scotland where his father worked as a shepherd he ended his days as the most revered engineer in the world known punningly as The Colossus of Roads He was responsible for some of the great works of the age such as the suspension bridge across the Menai Straits and the mighty Pontcysyllte aqueduct He built some of the best roads seen in Britain since the days of the Romans and constructed the great Caledonian Canal designed to take ships across Scotland from coast to coast He did as much as anyone to turn engineering into a profession and was the first President of the newly formed Institution of Civil Engineers All this was achieved by a man who started work as a boy apprentice to a stonemason rn He was always intensely proud of his homeland and was to be in charge of an immense programme of reconstruction for the Highlands that included building everything from roads to harbours and even designing churches He was unquestionably one of Britain s finest engineers able to take his place alongside giants such as Brunel He was also a man of culture even though he had only a rudimentary education As a mason in his early days he had worked alongside some of the greatest architects of the day such as William Chambers and Robert Adams and when he was appointed County Surveyor for Shropshire early in his career he had the opportunity to practice those skills himself designing two imposing churches in the county and overseeing the renovation of Shrewsbury Castle Even as a boy he had developed a love of literature and throughout his life wrote poetry and became a close friend of the Poet Laureate Robert Southey He was a man of many talents who rose to the very top of his profession but never forgot his roots he kept his old masons tools with him to the end of his days rn There are few official monuments to this great man but he has no need of them the true monuments are the structures that he left behind that speak of a man who brought about a revolution in transport and civil engineering

the goal is accomplished the organization disappears When projects are complex unpredictable and changing their plans have to be flexible and able to adjust to situations that cannot be foreseen at the outset In this Very Short Introduction Andrew Davies looks at how projects have developed since the industrial revolution to create the human built world in which we live work and play Considering some of our greatest endeavours such as the Erie Canal Apollo Moon landing Japanese product development and Chinese ecocity projects Davies identifies how projects are organized and managed to design and produce large and complex systems cope with fast changing conditions and deal with the immense uncertainties required to create breakthrough innovations in products and services He concludes by considering how projects could be organized to address the challenges facing the post industrial society of the 21st century ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable Roads and Road Construction ,1957 Engineers DK,2012-04-16 Engineers have always had a huge influence on the way we live and how our world looks They create lasting solutions to the biggest challenges and construct iconic and incredible buildings that have literally stood the test of time Engineers tells their story from the men who built the Great Pyramid in Egypt to the pioneers of space travel Often many different minds worked together or built on the work of previous generations to achieve a working version of a great idea Engineers explores this progression of ideas from initial concept to prototype and finished design The great achievements of engineers go hand in hand with the world's greatest structures such as aqueducts monuments bridges and dams These works are shown in detail and highlighted with beautiful illustrations photographs and technical drawings Construction History ,1994 The Story of Our Canals Carolyn Hutchings,1975 Great Thoughts from Master Minds ,1890
