Cataloging and Classification Daniel N. Joudrey,Arlene G. Taylor,David P. Miller,2015-09-29 A new edition of this best selling textbook reintroduces the topic of library cataloging from a fresh modern perspective Not many books merit an eleventh edition but this popular text does Newly updated Introduction to Cataloging and Classification provides an introduction to descriptive cataloging based on contemporary standards explaining the basic tenets to readers without previous experience as well as to those who merely want a better understanding of the process as it exists today The text opens with the foundations of cataloging then moves to specific details and subject matter such as Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records FRBR Functional Requirements for Authority Data FRAD the International Cataloging Principles ICP and RDA Unlike other texts the book doesn t presume a close familiarity with the MARC bibliographic or authorities formats ALA s Anglo American Cataloging Rules 2nd Edition revised AACR2R or the International Standard Bibliographic Description ISBD Subject access to library materials is covered in sufficient depth to make the reader comfortable with the principles and practices of subject cataloging and classification In addition the book introduces MARC BIBFRAME and other approaches used to communicate and display bibliographic data Discussions of formatting presentation and administrative issues complete the book questions useful for review and study appear at the end of each chapter Online Searching

Karen Markey,2023-02-07 Online Searching prepares students in library and information science programs to assist information seekers at all levels from university faculty to elementary school students Included in the third edition are interviews with librarians and other information professionals whose words of wisdom broaden graduate students perspectives regarding online searching in a variety of work settings serving different kinds of information seekers The book s chapters are organized according to the steps in the search process 1 Conducting a reference interview to determine what the seeker wants 2 Identifying sources that are likely to produce relevant information for the seeker s query 3 Determining whether the user seeks a known item or information about a subject 4 Dividing the query into main ideas and combining them logically 5 Representing the query as input to the search system 6 Conducting the search and responding strategically 7 Displaying retrievals assessing them and responding tactically A new chapter on web search engines builds on students existing experience with keyword searching and relevance ranking by introducing them to more sophisticated techniques to use in the search box and on the results page A completely revised chapter on assessing research impact discusses the widespread use of author and article iMetrics a trend that has developed rapidly since the publication of the second edition More than 100 figures and tables provide readers with visualizations of concepts and examples of real searches and actual results Textboxes offer additional topical details and professional insights New videos supplement the text by delving more deeply into topics such as database types information organization specialized search techniques results filtering and the role of browsing in the information seeking process An updated glossary makes it easy to find definitions of terms used throughout the book With new and updated material this edition of Online Searching gives students knowledge and skills for success when intermediating between information seekers and the sources they need Literature Search Strategies for Interdisciplinary Research Linda G. Ackerson,2007 The amount of published literature can be overwhelming for scientists and researchers moving from a broad disciplinary research area to a more specialized one particularly in fields that use information from more than one discipline Without a focused inquiry the researcher may find too little information or may be overcome by too much Striking the correct balance of information is the focus of Literature Search Strategies for Interdisciplinary Research This useful reference tool studies diverse interdisciplinary areas revealing the general and individual qualities that dictate the strategies of successful searches Beginning with a bare bones search strategy for finding primary research in interdisciplinary areas the book then goes on to provide hints for research in specific disciplines as the unique traits of the individual fields compound the difficulties in interdisciplinary research Individual chapters written by experts in that particular area address ten research fields in depth disclosing the common qualities of interdisciplinary research The study areas covered include Paleontology Crystallography Quaternary Research Human Factors Engineering Nanotechnology Atmospheric Chemistry Bioethics Computational Biology Engineering Entrepreneurship and Machine Learning For scientists and engineers new to their fields as well as librarians whose responsibilities include collecting library materials for newly emerging interdisciplinary research areas Linda Ackerson's guide provides all that is needed to develop a successful search strategy The Contemporary Thesaurus of Social Science Terms and Synonyms Sara D.
