Using Narrative Therapy in Practice

— THE TREE OF LIFE —

The Canopy
What are the challenges in your life? How do you manage stress? What events do you anticipate in the future?

The Leaves
The people who are the most important in your life. What influence do they have on who you have? Are there leaders in the world who have guided you?

The Fruit
The gifts and talents you have learned from important people.

The Branches
Your hopes, wishes, and goals for yourself and others. What are they and how can you achieve them?

The Trunk
Your skills, strengths, and abilities. What are you good at already?

The Roots
Where you come from and what family. What makes you feel safe and how are things important to you? Has your past influenced who you are today?

The Ground
Your present life and the activities you do daily. How stable is the ground?

The Sapwood
This is the part of the tree that is closest to the center. It is the youngest part of the tree and is responsible for carrying water up to the leaves.

The Heartwood
This is the part of the tree that is in the center. It is the oldest part of the tree and is no longer responsible for carrying water. It is made up of dead cells that have been replaced by living cells.

The Bark
This is the outermost part of the tree. It is made up of several layers of cells. The outermost layer is the epidermis, which protects the tree from insects and diseases. The inner layers are the cortex and the phloem, which carry food down to the roots.

The Cambium
This is the layer of cells between the sapwood and the heartwood. It is responsible for producing new wood cells.

The Pith
This is the central part of the tree. It is made up of several layers of cells. It is the youngest part of the tree and is responsible for storing food.

The Root
This is the part of the tree that is underground. It is responsible for anchoring the tree to the ground and for absorbing water and nutrients from the soil.
