Bentley,2024-12-15 In Devaluing Public Apologies in the Age of Social Media Joshua M Bentley argues that apologies are losing their meaning in American society as organizations and public figures treat them as strategical tools without considering their ethical implications As the demand for apologies in the age of social media continues to increase exponentially Bentley posits the apologies that are given carry less and less weight to the public This book examines how controversial figures like Donald Trump and Joe Rogan as well as brands like Google and Bud Light have addressed public controversies both effectively and ineffectively illustrating how social media polarization and cancel culture are changing the way apologies are given and received If apologies are to serve their historical role of resolving conflict peacefully Bentley argues they must be placed back into their proper ethical context This book offers insight on how individuals and organizations can ensure their apologies reflect their authentic values Scholars of communication ethics media studies political science and public relations will find it especially useful

Autobiography, Fan Fiction, and Education

Nicola Robertson, Yueling Chen, 2025-10-02 This book illuminates the relationship between autobiography fan fiction and education via philosophical pedagogical and formative perspectives How might we consider autobiography and fan fiction writing to be educational How can we harness the potential of fan fiction writing for pedagogical use How does the practice of creating and consuming fan fiction autobiographical texts support the formation of identity This book brings together contributors from across the world to consider the answers to these questions and more with the resulting interpretations and perspectives offering something novel in the linking of these three concepts Separated into three distinct sections the chapters in this book look first at philosophical perspectives moving on to pedagogical approaches and finally the role of fan fiction and autobiography in the formation of individual and social identities The eclectic mix of arguments methods and styles aims to provide insights to readers interested in life writing popular culture and media studies and those engaged in the multiple sub disciplines of education studies
