Writing Program Architecture Bryna Siegel Finer, Jamie White-Farnham, 2017-11-01
Writing Program Architecture offers an unprecedented abundance of information concerning the significant material, logistical and rhetorical features of writing programs. Presenting the realities of thirty diverse and award winning programs, contributors to the volume describe reporting lines, funding sources, jurisdictions, curricula and other critical programmatic matters and provide insight into their program histories, politics and philosophies. Each chapter opens with a program snapshot that includes summary demographic and historical information and then addresses the profile of the WPA program conception, population served, funding, assessment, technology, curriculum and more. The architecture of the book itself makes comparison across programs and contexts easy, not only among the programs described in each chapter but also between the program in any given chapter and the reader's own program. An online web companion to the book includes access to the primary documents that have been of major importance to the development or sustainability of the program described in a Primary Document section of each chapter. The metaphor of architecture allows us to imagine the constituent parts of a writing program as its foundation beams, posts, scaffolding, the institutional structures that alongside its people, anchor a program to the ground and keep it standing. The most extensive resource on program structure available to the field, Writing Program Architecture illuminates structural choices made by leaders of exemplary programs around the United States and provides an authoritative source of standard practice that a WPA might use to articulate programmatic choices to higher administration.
