States Of Development States Of Development:

Developmental States Stephan Haggard, 2018-02-08 The concept of the developmental state emerged to explain the rapid growth of a number of countries in East Asia in the postwar period Yet the developmental state literature also offered a theoretical approach to growth that was heterodox with respect to prevailing approaches in both economics and political science Arguing for the distinctive features of developmental states its proponents emphasized the role of government intervention and industrial policy as well as the significance of strong states and particular social coalitions This literature blossomed into a wider approach firmly planted in a much longer heterodox tradition that explored comparisons with states that were decidedly not developmentalist thus contributing to our historical understanding of long run growth This Element provides a critical but sympathetic overview of this literature and ends with its revival and a look forward at the possibility for developmentalist approaches both in the advanced and developing world States of Development Adrian

Leftwich, 2001-03-05 The spectre of poverty disease and ignorance still haunts much of the developing world today But not everywhere Some societies such as Botswana Mauritius Malaysia and Korea are successfully transforming the material life of the majority of their citizens though not always without costs in terms of human rights Others such as Peru Zaire India and the Philippines appear incapable of doing so In this widely comparative study Adrian Leftwich examines why this has happened Focusing on the politics and states of a wide range of developing societies Leftwich generates a model of the developmental state as a particular sub type of state in the modern world and argues the case for the primacy of politics in development He challenges a number of contemporary orthodoxies in western overseas development policy especially the current insistence that democracy is a necessary condition for development States of Development will be essential reading for students and scholars in development studies and politics Departments of Commerce, Justice, and State, the

Lipman,1990 Social Disciplining and Civilising Processes in China Thomas Heberer,2023-08-11 This book argues that a major part of the Chinese government's road map formulated in 2017 to modernise China comprehensively by 2049 is the process of social disciplining It contends that the Chinese state sees that modernisation and modernity encompass not only economic and political administrative change but are also related to the organisation of society in general and the disciplining of this society and its individuals to create people with modernised minds and behaviour and that moreover the Chinese state is aspiring to a modernity with Chinese characteristics The question of modernising by disciplining was extensively dealt with in the twentieth century by leading Western social scientists including Max Weber Norbert Elias and Michel Foucault who argued that disciplining extending from external coercion towards the internalisation of restraints is indispensable for achieving social order and thereby for civilisation but defined from a European perspective in relation to developments in Europe This book therefore not only discusses the Chinese experience of social disciplining but also by looking at a non Western society identifies universal tendencies of societal change and social disciplining and separates them from particular occurrences Official Register of the Louisiana State University and Agricultural and Mechanical College Louisiana State University and Agricultural and Mechanical College,1915 Rethinking Development Economics Ha-Joon Chang,2003 Impressive provides a very good compendium of what are usually classified as heterodox development economics an excellent volume Journal of International Development This important new collection tackles the failure of neoliberal reform to generate longterm growth and reduce poverty in many developing and transition economies As dramatically demonstrated in the collapse of the WTO's Seattle talks there is increasing dissatisfaction in both developing and developed countries with the emerging neoliberal global economic order The resignations of Joseph Stiglitz and Ravi Kanbur from the World Bank emphasize that this disillusionment with the orthodoxy now exists at the very heart of the establishment Yet the increasing demand for an alternative to this orthodoxy is not being met Over the last few decades the older generation of development economists have been edged out of most major universities particularly in the USA The situation in most developing countries is even worse although there is more demand for alternatives to orthodox development economics these countries have even less capability to generate such alternatives Rethinking Development Economics is intended to fill this gap It addresses key issues in development economics ranging from macroeconomics finance and governance to trade industry agriculture and poverty Bringing together some of the foremost names in the field this comprehensive and timely collection constitutes a critical staging post in the future of development economics Driver ,1969 Strategic Coupling Henry Wai-chung Yeung,2016-04-22 In Strategic Coupling Henry Wai chung Yeung examines economic development and state firm relations in East Asia focusing in particular on South Korea Taiwan and Singapore As a result of the massive changes of the last twenty five years new explanations must be found for the economic success and industrial transformation in the region State assisted startups and incubator firms in East Asia have become major players in the manufacture of products with a global reach Taiwan s Hon Hai Precision has assembled more than 500 million iPhones for instance and South Korea s Samsung provides the iPhone s semiconductor chips and retina displays Drawing on extensive interviews with top executives and senior government officials Yeung argues that since the late 1980s many East Asian firms have outgrown their home states and are no longer dependent on state support as a result the developmental state has lost much of its capacity to steer and direct industrialization We cannot read the performance of national firms as a direct outcome of state action Yeung calls for a thorough renovation of the still dominant view that states are the primary engine of industrial transformation He stresses action by national firms and traces various global production networks to incorporate both firm specific activities and the international political economy He identifies two sets of dynamics in these national global articulations known as strategic coupling coevolution in the confluence of state firm and global production networks and the various strategies pursued by East Asian firms to attain competitive positions in the global marketplace Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance ,2006 Identifies and describes specific government assistance opportunities such as loans grants counseling and procurement contracts available under many agencies and programs The Budget Report of the State Board of Finance and Control to the General Assembly, Session of [1929-] 1937 Connecticut.
