Contesting Rituals Andrew Strathern, Pamela J. Stewart, 2005 This book fills a current need in Islamic Studies for a perspective on the nuanced investigation of ritual practices rather than a concentration on politicized forms of ideology The essays in this volume all written by scholarly specialists with first hand fieldwork experience take up a number of questions central to Islamic religion and ritual focusing on rituals as practices of making identities Identities are seen as changing in response to historical forces rather than as unchanging and rigid and the overall vision of Islam is seen as pluralistic rather than monolithic Several of the essays deal with gender relations showing that women may in practice gain some prominence in local contexts beyond what might be allowed by reformist Islamicizing authorities This is particularly the case when the focus is on varieties of Sufism The essays also recognize that elements of conflict and contestation are commonly present in ritual contexts because of struggles over power hence the title Contesting Rituals Politics gender relations and conflict between central reformists and local ritual specialists are all involved in these contestations Overall the volume aims to show the multiplicity of Islam and to demonstrate how the themes of multiplicity and unity are played out continuously over time The contributors to the volume are Kelly Pemberton South Asia Anna M Gade Indonesia Susan J Rasmussen Africa Elaine S Hutson Africa Shampa Mazumdar and Sanjoy Mazumdar USA Sean R Roberts Uyghurstan and Liyakat Takim Iraq The editors Pamela Stewart and Andrew Strathern provide an introductory overview This book is part of the Ritual Studies Monograph Series edited by Pamela J Stewart and Andrew Strathern Department of Anthropology University of Pittsburgh This volume is a useful addition to literature on Islam ritual and identity It successfully investigates the plasticity of Muslim ritual on multiple axes providing historical perspectives explorations of spatial transformation and experience near ethnographic analyses Journal of Anthropological Research 2006 The contributions offer interesting insights into aspects of Muslim religious practice their situatedness in wider social contexts and change over time The Journal of Social Anthropology The reader comes away with an awareness of the complexities of being Muslim in today's world of globalization mass migration changing gender roles and continuing ethno nationalist struggles The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland

Michael Keating, John Loughlin, Kris Deschouwer, 2003 Regions are increasingly recognised as a key aspect of economic change in Europe not merely as geographic spaces but also as social systems Their history culture institutions and patterns of leadership mould the way in which they adapt to European and global competitive challenges This book reviews the debate surrounding the construction of regions and presents eight case studies to illustrate how they are shaped and reshaped in a variety of different ways The authors find that while some regions exhibit common patterns there are significant variations indicating that there is no definitive model of regional development This book offers a systematic comparison of eight distinct regions and stateless nations each with its own historical identity but which is constantly being rebuilt in changing economic and political conditions Avoiding economic or cultural determinism the authors show how region builders can shape their own responses to global challenges to produce models of development reflecting differing understandings and social compromises Culture Institutions and Economic Development will be warmly welcomed by academics within the fields of regional studies European studies and political science Nationalism and New States in Africa from about 1935 to the Present Ali Al'Amin Mazrui, Michael Tidy, 1984 Political Crossroads , 2001 Politics and Society in the Third World Susan Calvert, Peter Calvert, 1996 Politics and Society in the Third World provides an introduction to the Third World its political institutions and issues of social and economic development The approach is interdisciplinary and the book is based around the twin themes of environment and development Topic coverage is varied starting with a definition of the Third World and moving through Social Economic and Cultural contexts to political institutions political participation and policy issues
