The Urban Food Revolution Changing The Way We Feed Cities:

The Urban Food Revolution Peter Ladner,2011-11-15 Describes how to ensure food security in urban areas by bringing food production into neighborhoods through the use of community gardening cooking and composting programs so that cities will have local fresh and sustainable food sources Original

Urban Farming Tamara Thompson,2014-08-08 This edition includes a variety of articles on urban agriculture Articles discuss urban agriculture as a viable solution to food insecurities the economic sustainability of urban agriculture the impact of urban agriculture on specific groups such as women in developing countries and the future of urban farming Includes primary and secondary sources from a variety of perspectives eyewitnesses scientific journals government officials and many others

The Urban Condition Brendan Gleeson,2014-05-23 This book will speak to the new human epoch the Urban Age A majority of humanity now lives for the first time in cities The city the highest invention of the modern age is now the human heartland And yet the same process that brought us the city and its wonders modernisation has also thrown up challenges and threats especially climate change resource depletion social division and economic insecurity This book considers how these threats are encountered and countered in the urban age focusing on the issue of human knowledge and self awareness just as Hannah Arendt s influential The Human Condition did half a century ago The Human Condition is now The Urban Condition And it is this condition that will define human prospects in an age of default and risk Gleeson expertly explores the concept through three main themes The first is an exploration of what defines the current human condition especially the expanding cities that are at the heart of an over consumptive world economic order The second exposes and reviews the reawakening of forms of knowledge naturalism that are likely to worsen not improve our comprehension of the crisis The new science of urbanism in popular new literature exemplifies this dangerous trend The third and last part of the book considers prospects for a new urban and therefore human dispensation The Good City We must first journey in our urban vessels through troubled times But can we now start to plot the way to new shores to a safer more resilient city that provides for human flourishing The Urban Condition attempts this ideal conceiving a new urbanism based on the old idea of self limitation The Urban Condition is an original timely book that reconsiders and redeploys Arendt s famous notion of The Human Condition in an age of cities and risk It brings together several important strands of human consideration urbanisation climate threat resource depletion economic default and critical knowledge and weaves them into a new analysis of the times It also looks to a future that is nearly with us of changed climate resource scarcity and economic stress The book journeys into these troubled times proposing the idea of Lifeboat Cities as a way of thinking about the human journey to come

Regenerative agroubanism R. France,2023-08-14 The core activities of urban agriculture are involved with producing processing marketing distributing and consuming food Urban agriculture also provides services and outcomes through transforming neglected or damaged landscapes lives and livelihoods This book focuses on the so called ancillary benefits of urban agriculture in terms of healing economies connections aesthetics heritage and sites and societies in short what might be referred to in an holistic sense as the emerging paradigm of agroubanism More than seventy case studies from around the world are reviewed through the social ecological lens of regenerative landscape design Many of these cases have never before been discussed in the literature Topics examined include entrepreneurship gastro tourism food literacy foodscaping heritage and social and societal wellbeing The methodological approach undertaken is layered narrative scholarship based on the phenomenology of experiencing landscapes and is facilitated through a linked website containing photo essays documenting the site visits Robert L France is a world renowned scientist in the Faculty of Agriculture at Dalhousie University where he teaches courses on urban agriculture ecohydrology watershed management conservation biology and environmental restoration For more than a decade he taught and conducted research on landscape architecture land use planning and urban design at the Harvard Design School Dr France is the author or editor of twenty two books and more than two hundred journal articles on a wide range of environmental subjects which together have been cited more than ten thousand times in the professional literature In 2010 he organized the first international academic conference on urban agriculture in Canada which led to the publication of the edited volume Integrated Urban Agriculture Precedents Practices Prospects His previous book with Wageningen Academic Publishers is about the pre plastic environmental history of fishery bycatch Disentangled Ethnozoology and Environmental Explanation of the Gloucester Sea Serpent

Sarah Elton,2010-03-16 Strawberries in January fresh tomatoes year round and New Zealand lamb at all times these well travelled foods have a carbon footprint the size of an SUV But there is a burgeoning local food movement taking place in Canadian cities farms and shops that is changing both the way we eat and the way we think about food Locavore describes how foodies 100 milers urbanites farmers gardeners and chefs across Canada are creating a new local food order that has the potential to fight climate change and feed us all Combining front line reporting shrewd analysis and passionate food writing to delight the gastronome Locavore shows how the pieces of a post industrial food system are being assembled into something infinitely better We meet city dwellers who grow crops in their backyards and office workers who have traded their keyboards for pitchforks We learn how a group of New Brunswick farmers saved the family farm why artisanal cheese in Quebec is so popular and how a century old farm survives in urban British Columbia bordered by the ocean on one side and by a new housing development on the other We follow food culture activists as they work to preserve the genetic material of heritage plants to return once endangered flavours to our tables In recounting the stories of its diverse cast of characters Locavore lays out a blueprint for a local food revolution From Locavore At farmers markets across the city heritage tomatoes free range eggs and organic purslane are sold out before noon And at the cheese shop the rich but not too salty sheep s milk feta made on the outskirts of Toronto is so popular I never know when I ll find it again Everywhere it seems demand outstrips supply for local produce Challenges in Our Changing Urban Society Daniel Goldberg,1969

Discusses the cities of various early civilizations and the labrynthian urban areas of today with their accompanying problems Includes a unit on federal state and city government Food and the City Jennifer Cockrall-King,2012-02-21 Discusses how urban agriculture can help revolutionize the environmentally unsustainable modern food industry providing evidence of thriving urban farms within food deserts and describing the global movement towards alternative food production
