Grunden, 2005 Grunden's analysis of this fundamental flaw in the Japanese war effort seamlessly weaves together science technology and military history to provide an entirely unique look at a crucial but understudied aspect of World War II Comparing the science and weapons programs of all the major combatants he demonstrates that Japan's failure was nearly inevitable given its paucity of strategic resources an inadequate industrial base the absence of effective centralized management to coordinate research military hostility toward civilian scientists and bitter interservice rivalries In the end Japan could not overcome these obstacles and thus failed to make the transition to the kind of Big Science it needed to ward off its enemies and dominate the Far East BOOK JACKET
