

The background of the entire cover is a dense, intricate pattern of dark brown branches with small, dark leaves. Scattered throughout this pattern are several colorful flowers: a purple bell-shaped flower in the upper left, a large orange-red rose in the lower left, and a blue bell-shaped flower in the lower right. A green and yellow moth is perched on a branch on the right side. The text is centered and printed in a light cream color.

The Vintage Book of Classic Crime Michael Dibdin, 1997-07-14 The great Raymond Chandler once noted that the detective or mystery story has become so thoroughly explored that the real problem for a writer now is to avoid writing a mystery while appearing to do so And that is precisely what the contributors in this masterful anthology have accomplished For in The Vintage Book of Classic Crime Michael Dibdin has assembled fifty four of the most stylish original and subversive examples of the literature of murder Whether written by eminent practitioners such as James M Cain or Dashiell Hammett or distinguished amateurs like Ernest Hemingway or Franz Kafka the stories essays and novel excerpts in this volume push past their genre s familiar conventions to explore what makes crime CRIME Suspenseful and exhilarating hard boiled and high art the result is a dazzling gallery of murder that reveals how daring and controversial crime writing can be Contributors and stories include James M Cain The Postman Always Rings Twice Raymond Chandler Pick up on Noon Street Anton Chekhov The Shooting Party Umberto Eco William Faulkner Smoke Dashiell Hammett The Glass Key Ernest Hemingway The Killers George V Higgins Trust Patricia Highsmith Strangers on a Train P D James and T A Critchley The Maul and the Pear Tree James Joyce Franz Kafka Elmore Leonard Walter Mosley A Red Death Edgar Allan Poe The Tell tale Heart Georges Simenon Maiget s Memoirs Isaac Bashevis Singer Under the Knife Julian Symons The Man Who Killed Himself Barbara Vine A Dark Adapted Eye James Thurber Oscar Wilde The Picture of Dorian Gray and Emile Zola Therese Raquin in Suicide as well as theories of other prominent suicidologists This book not only fills a lacuna in Dostoevsky scholarship but provides fresh readings of Dostoevsky's major works including Notes from The House of the Dead Crime and Punishment The Idiot Demons and The Brothers Karamazov Ronner provides an exegesis of how Dostoevsky's implicit awareness of fatalistic altruistic egoistic and anomic modes of self destruction helped shape not only his philosophy but also his craft as a writer In this study Ronner contributes to the field of suicidology by anatomizing both self destructive behavior and suicidal ideation while offering ways to think about prevention But most expansively Ronner tackles the formidable task of forging a ligature between artistic creation and the pluripresent social fact of self annihilation Classic Muscle Mike Mueller,2005

Autocar ,1998 The Warden - The Original Classic Edition Anthony Trollope,2012-06 Finally available a high quality book of the original classic edition of The Warden This is a new and freshly published edition of this culturally important work by Anthony Trollope which is now at last again available to you Enjoy this classic work today These selected paragraphs distill the contents and give you a quick look inside The Warden In the year 1434 there died at Barchester one John Hiram who had made money in the town as a wool stapler and in his will he left the house in which he died and certain meadows and closes near the town still called Hiram's Butts and Hiram's Patch for the support of twelve superannuated wool carders all of whom should have been born and bred and spent their days in Barchester he also appointed that an alms house should be built for their abode with a fitting residence for a warden which warden was also to receive a certain sum annually out of the rents of the said butts and patches Such was his character in Barchester so universal was his popularity that the very fact of his appointment would have quieted louder whispers than those which had been heard but Mr Harding was an open handed just minded man and feeling that there might be truth in what had been said he had on his instalment declared his intention of adding twopence a day to each man's pittance making a sum of sixty two pounds eleven shillings and fourpence which he was to pay out of his own pocket He has talked not unfrequently and heard very much about the wills of old founders and the incomes arising from their estates during the last year or two he did even at one moment feel a doubt since expelled by his son in law's logic as to whether Lord Guildford was clearly entitled to receive so enormous an income as he does from the revenues of St Cross but that he himself was overpaid with his modest eight hundred pounds he who out of that voluntarily gave up sixty two pounds eleven shillings and fourpence a year to his twelve old neighbours he who for the money does his precentors work as no precentor has done it before since Barchester Cathedral was built such an idea has never sullied his quiet or disturbed his conscience He is aware that at any rate two of his old men have been heard to say that if everyone had his own they might each have their hundred pounds a year and live like gentlemen instead of a beggarly one shilling and sixpence a day and that they had slender cause to be thankful for a miserable dole of twopence when Mr Harding and Mr Chadwick between them ran away with thousands of pounds which good old John Hiram never intended for the like of them The musician was seated in a garden chair just within the summer house so as to allow the violoncello which he held between his knees to rest upon the dry stone flooring before him stood a rough music desk on which was open a page of that dear sacred book that much laboured and much loved volume of church music which had cost so many guineas and around sat and lay and stood and leaned ten of the twelve old men who dwelt with him beneath old John Hiram's roof
