Rereading Fluency Bess Altwerger, Nancy C. Jordan, Nancy Rankie Shelton, 2007 Rereading Fluency is an important and timely book The authors do not just criticize current policies and practices but offer alternatives for improving the quality of reading assessment and instruction Richard L Allington Has your school spent tens of thousands or more dollars on fluency based reading assessment programs If so you might be getting less for your investment than you think Did you know There is little consensus on what exactly fluency is The NRP's report the basis for Reading First failed to support its assertion that it is generally acknowledged that fluency is a critical component of skilled reading The relationship between fluency and comprehension may be vastly overstated by the conventional wisdom Challenging commonly held notions of the effectiveness and importance of fluency Rereading Fluency provides the vital information any teacher or administrator needs to determine the most effective way to help students read well Combining a careful review of prior research with findings from their own thorough analysis of more than 120 second grade readers Bess Altwerger Nancy Jordan and Nancy Rankie Shelton detail why as a measure of reading success fluency can fall flat Using a multischool multiprogram study they compare the effects of commercial phonics based programs and noncommercial literature based programs on students fluency and overall proficiency The results will surprise you Faster more accurate readers aren't always better comprehenders Decoding rates are highly variable among readers with similar comprehension levels Commercial phonics based programs do not result in better decoding faster and more accurate reading or better comprehension Performance on fluency assessments says little if anything about students ability to read and understand literature Altwerger Jordan and Shelton don't just dismantle the arguments for considering fluency a key component of reading they come through with specific critiques of DIBELS and offer
