The Women Gender And Development Reader:

The Women, Gender and Development Reader Nalini Visvanathan,Lynn Duggan,Nan Wiegersma,Laurie Nisonoff,2011-11-25 The Women Gender and Development Reader II is the definitive volume of literature dedicated to women in the development process Now in a fully revised second edition the editors expertly present the impacts of social political and economic change by reviewing such topical issues as migration persistent structural discrimination the global recession and climate change Approached from a multidisciplinary perspective the theoretical debates are vividly illustrated by an array of global case studies This now classic book has been designed as a comprehensive reader presenting the best of the now vast body of literature The book is divided into five parts incorporating readings from the leading experts and authorities in each field The result is a unique and extensive discussion a guide to the evolution of the field and a vital point of reference for those studying or with a keen interest in women in the development process The Women, Gender, and Development Reader Nalini Visvanathan,Lynn Duggan,Laurie Nisonoff,Nancy Wiegersma,1997 This reader designed for undergraduates and development practitioners presents a selection of literature that has accompanied the recognition given to the critical roles played by Third World women Gender, Development and Money Caroline Sweetman,2001 Focusing upon microfinance and micro credit issues the contributors to this volume ask just what role does earning play in transforming the power relations between men and women How far does a change in gender roles affect beliefs about who has the power in the household the marketplace or that state Gender, Development and Disasters Sarah Bradshaw,2013-04-01 Disaster research owes a lot to development studies and yet the debt is often not acknowledged In this scholarly but accessible book by Sarah Bradshaw we see a very effective linking of gender disaster and development that will be of value to academics and practitioners working in and across all these domains Maureen Fordham University of Northumbria UK Bringing gender into the foreground in both development and disaster discourse the author challenges received wisdom and offers cautionary notes about reinforcing inequalities through feminized disaster interventions The book is an outstanding platform for fundamental change in how we think about and act toward gender in disaster contexts leaving readers cautiously optimistic This is one for the top shelf a book we have been waiting for and must put to use Elaine Enarson founder Gender and Disaster Resilience Alliance Once in a while a book is published which offers an empirically and theoretically informed analysis of an under studied topic which helps to carve out a new field of enquiry Such is the case with Dr Sarah Bradshaw s breathtakingly detailed richly first hand informed and incisive account of the frequently paradoxical co option of women into the analysis and practice of disaster in developing economies Bradshaw s eminently comprehensive well substantiated perceptive and sensitive treatment of the A to Z of gender and disaster in developing country contexts constitutes a 21st century volume which will be a definitive benchmark for scholars policymakers practitioners and feminist activists at a world scale Sylvia Chant London School of Economics UK The need to disaster proof development is increasingly recognised by development agencies as is the need to engender both development and disaster response This unique book explores what these processes mean for development and disasters in practice Sarah Bradshaw critically examines key notions such as gender vulnerability risk and humanitarianism underpinning development and disaster discourse Case studies are used to demonstrate how disasters are experienced individually and collectively as gendered events Through consideration of processes to engender development it problematizes women s inclusion in disaster response and reconstruction The study highlights that while women are now central to both disaster response and development tackling gender inequality is not By critically reflecting on gendered disaster response and the gendered impact of disasters on processes of development it exposes some important lessons for future policy This timely book examines international development and disaster policy which will prove invaluable to gender and disaster academics students and practitioners

Gender, Development, and the State in India Carole Spary,2019-02-21 This book explores the relationship between the state development policy and gender in equality in India It discusses the formation of state policy on gender and development in India in the post 1990 period through three key organising concepts of institutions discourse and agency The book pays particular attention to whether the international policy language of gender mainstreaming has been adopted by the Indian state and if so to what extent and with what results The author examines how these issues play out at multiple levels of governance at both the national and the subnational state level in federal India This comparative aspect is particularly important in the context of increasing autonomy in development policymaking in India in the 1990s divergent development policy approaches and outcomes among states and the emerging importance of subnational state development policies and programmes for women in this period The author argues that the state is not a monolith but a heterogeneous internally differentiated collection of institutions which offers complex and varying opportunities and consequences for feminists engaging the state Demonstrating that the Indian empirical case is illuminating for studies of the gendered politics of development and international debates on gender mainstreaming the book highlights the politics of negotiating gender equality strategies in the contemporary context of neo liberal development and brings together complex issues of modernity postcolonialism identity politics federalism and equality within the broader context of the world s largest democracy This book will be of interest to scholars interested in the politics of gender equality state feminism and gender mainstreaming federalism and multi level governance and development studies and gender in South Asia Gender, Development, and Humanitarian Work Caroline Sweetman,2001 While the difficulties of integrating gender equity goals into interventions are acknowledged the authors argue that gender blind responses can further endanger the survival of women and their families and their long term position in society and also deny them the opportunity of exercising their potential as peace builders Latin American Research Review ,2006 Configuring Gender Barbara Marshall,2000-03 This brief book focuses on how the idea of gender has developed both in scholarship and in the public mind International Labour

Documentation International Labour Office. Central Library and Documentation Branch, International Labour Office. Bureau of Library and Information Services, 2000 Education and Development, 2011 Redeveloping Communication for

Social Change Karin Gwinn Wilkins, 2000 Proposes situating theory and practice within contexts of power recognizing both the ability of dominant groups to control and the potential for marginal communities to resist Contributors from communication and anthropology explore the global and institutional structures within which agencies construct social problems and interventions the discourse guiding the normative climate for conceiving and implementing projects and the practice of strategic interventions for social change Examines early and emerging models of development power dynamics ethnographic approaches gender issues and information technologies Social Science & Malaysian National

Development Abdul Rahman Embong, 2007 Another World is Possible David McNally, 2006 What are the roots of the anti corporate globalization movement and where is it going Another World Is Possible traces the movement's progress since 1994 and makes the case for the continued development of its anti capitalist analysis and activism Drawing on the experiences of radical movements of workers peasants and indigenous peoples in many countries he sketches out an alternative deeply radical politics based on diversity internationalism and moving beyond commodification and the market The new social movements that have emerged in the last few years have given eloquent expression to resurgent hopes for a better world David McNally shares these hopes and the passion with which activists have voiced them But he also offers the kind of lucid and penetrating analysis the movements need to make the best use of the resources available to them Written in a clear and engaging style Another World Is Possible will be an invaluable asset to all those engaged in the movements as well as those who simply want to understand anti capitalism and the world it wants to change Women in the New Asia

Yayori Matsui, 1999-03 This remarkable book charts the effects of the economic boom on women across Asia Yori Matsui one of Japan's leading journalists demonstrates how Asian women are confronting rapid economic development which is accompanied by widespread infringement of human rights Analysing the lives of women in Japan Thailand the Philippines Taiwan China Nepal and Korea the author explores the impact of globalization including the feminization of migration and an increase in the trafficking of women sexual violence from the comfort women to child prostitution development projects the cause of mass deforestation and displacement of communities However she also describes women's credit cooperatives democratization movements and unionization of women workers She meets women who have organised ant logging blockades literacy classes and campaigns against trafficking She finds women across Asia resisting the dictatorship of development the feminization of poverty and patriarchal values Throughout the continent she finds the seeds of hope for a new Asia

New Books on Women, Gender and Feminism, 2013 Food and Nutrition Security in the Process of Globalization and Urbanization Uwe Kracht, Manfred Schulz, 2005 The reader in two volumes examines key issues of food and nutrition security under the driving forces of globalization and urbanization The different sections and chapters present approaches to food security throughout the world in a historic as well as a systematic perspective The methods applied are both qualitative and quantitative two econometric models and one cluster analysis Although much has been written on food security a systematic treatment of a historical empirical and theoretical analytical view is a recent development and we have therefore chosen a holistic approach The first volume contains contributions of a more historical empirical nature the second volume is policy oriented Each volume is essentially self contained and can be read in its own right according to the reader's interest The current work builds on our 1999 volume on Food Security and Nutrition The Global Challenge Our new reader comprises 62 articles by 71 authors It is written for a broad audience including scientists experts consultants practitioners of development aid and students The reader constitutes one of the most comprehensive compendia of its kind Globalisation and WTO Talwar Sabanna,2006

Unequal Citizens Zoya Hasan,Ritu Menon,2004 Seeks To Dispel Popular Misperceptions Regarding The Muslim Women In India As Well As To Engage With Academic Debate On Gender And Islam Throws Light On Questions Such As Opportunities Discrimination Structural Disadvantage Gender Class Patriarchy Inequality Between Communities And Between Hindu And Muslim Women And On The Impact Of Government Policies And Programmes Relating To The Status Of Muslim Women Asian Journal of Women's Studies ,2001 The Social Impact of the Chad-Cameroon Oil Pipeline Joyce Bayande Mbongo Endeley,Fondo Sikod,2007 This study explores the concepts of globalization gender relations and land tenure and the intersection of these concepts in a globalizing project represented by the Chad Cameroon Oil Pipeline project in selected communities in Cameroon It questions the theories of globalization the construction of women and men in the project particularly as concern land resources This work will appeal to scholars in social and management sciences gender studies and environmental sciences in Africa development agencies and multinational companies like the World Bank and petroleum consortiums and policy makers
