My Mourning Routine

Living with cancer doesn't mean mourning. Mourning usually means mourning the loss of someone who has died. But when you have cancer, you are mourning the loss of your body, your life, your future, your ability to do things you love, your ability to live the way you want to live.

It is okay to feel grief. Grief is a natural response to loss. But it is also a warning sign. It is a sign that you are not taking care of yourself. It is a sign that you are not taking care of your body. It is a sign that you are not taking care of your mind. It is a sign that you are not taking care of your spirit.

The routine that I developed is a way of taking care of myself. It is a way of taking care of my body, my mind, my spirit, my future. It is a way of taking care of myself. It is a way of taking care of myself. It is a way of taking care of myself.

These are the things that I do every day. They are the things that I do every day. They are the things that I do every day.
