

THE SCHENGEN AREA

- The Schengen acquis applies to members of the European institutions of the following 26 member States: Belgium, Czech Republic, Germany, Estonia, Greece, Spain (including the Balearic Islands and the Canary Islands), France, Croatia, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Hungary, Malta, The Netherlands, Austria, Ireland, Portugal (including Madeira and the Azores), Slovakia, Slovenia, Finland and Sweden.
- Denmark is an EU Member State that has a special position with regard to the application of the Schengen acquis. It has to implement the entire Schengen acquis, not as to law but as an obligation under international law. In a consequence, Denmark does not introduce Schengen measures as adopted by the EU.
- Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway, Iceland and Switzerland, which are not EU member States, are associated with the implementation of the Schengen acquis through association agreements. They have the right to be present and make suggestions during the preparation of Schengen acquis acts that are subsequently adopted by the EU institutions. They have to implement all Schengen acts other than adoption by the EU institutions and notify the Council accordingly.
- Bulgaria, Romania and Cyprus are EU member States bound by the entire Schengen acquis. However, they do not yet apply the parts of the acquis that concern the exercise of controls at internal borders, including visas. Bulgaria and Romania are also connected to the Schengen information system (SIS) since 10 July 2013. The context at the external borders with these Member States can be lifted only as a result of a decision adopted by the Council.
- Ireland is an EU Member State which does not participate in the Schengen cooperation. However, it may request and be authorised to take part in some parts of the Schengen acquis concerning police and judicial cooperation in criminal matters. Today, Ireland practically applies the areas of the Schengen acquis in which it has asked to participate, including the Schengen information system related to police.

Members of the Schengen Area and the EU. The Schengen Area is highlighted in light blue. The EU member states are highlighted in orange. The non-EU countries associated with the Schengen acquis are highlighted in light blue. The non-Schengen non-EU countries are highlighted in grey.

The Current Schengen Country List:

Europe, a New Immigration Continent Dietrich Thränhardt, 1992 Preface EU Immigration and Asylum Law Steve Peers, Nicola Rogers, 2006-08-30 Since entry into force of the Treaty of Amsterdam on 1 May 1999 the EU has considered and in many cases adopted many proposals for legislation or measures implementing legislation in the area of immigration and asylum law These measures run the gamut from highly technical operational matters to broad measures covering basic aspects of immigration and asylum law Between them the proposed or adopted measures cover virtually every possible issue in relation to immigration or asylum This book contains the text of and commentary upon a large number of these measures proposed or adopted up until 1 January 2006 including all of the most important ones It also includes the text of the key measures concerning asylum legal migration and irregular migration A full list of the measures with references to their legislative history is provided The authors of each commentary are experts in the field of EU immigration and asylum law and the areas covered include visa and border controls asylum legal migration and integration and irregular migration

JCAS Symposium Series , 1999 The Pandemic Crisis and the European Union Paulo Vila Maior, Isabel Camisão, 2021-11-15 This book assesses the implications of the COVID 19 pandemic for the European Union EU as well as its response in dealing with an overarching multidimensional crisis with consequences extending beyond public health safety to political economic legal and institutional arenas It argues the pandemic represents a symmetric crisis cutting across countries with different social economic and political characteristics and which yet despite favouring cooperative solutions at the supranational level has largely been met with initial responses of a national even local nature So how well did the EU perform as a crisis manager in the pandemic crisis This book will be of key interest to scholars students and readers of crisis pandemic and health management European Union politics and governance Cross-Border Labor Mobility Caf

Dowlah, 2024-12-09 This revised and updated book provides unique insight into cross border labor mobility from the ancient forms of slavery to the present day With a focus on the economic factors that underpin human mobility across the world it charts the different forms of migration from African and Amerindian slaveries to modern global migration and human trafficking By highlighting the economic and political conditions that drive human mobility and anti immigrant sentiments a nuanced and detailed understanding of the drivers of forced and voluntary cross border mobility are presented This book presents a multidisciplinary understanding of the patterns and processes that define human mobility It will be of interest to students researchers and policymakers working within labour economics and migration studies Mediterranean France and Corsica Pilot Rod and Lucinda Heikell, This is a comprehensive companion to the long coastline which ranges from Spain and the edge of the Pyrenees to the Alpes Maritimes and Italy It covers the flat country of Languedoc Roussillon the coast of the Golfe du Lion the Rh ne delta and the Camargue the industrial Golfe de Fos the C te d Azur and the French Riviera and Monaco The island of Corsica and the waterways that run behind the coast linking the Canal du Midi and the tangs to the Rh ne are covered in separate chapters The authors spent the summer and autumn of 2016 cruising in Corsica and then across to the Golfe du Fos where they left Skylax for the winter During their travels they visited a large number of harbours and anchorages collecting the latest information and taking new photographs There are new aerial photos for many places and in particular for ports and harbours in Languedoc Roussillon This major 2017 edition contains substantial change to the content A new Mediterranean France pilot from Rod and Lu Heikell is now available from Imray and needless to say if you have not got one and plan to cruise this coast and inevitably Corsica then rush out and buy it Royal Cruising Club

European Dialogue ,1995 Controlling Frontiers Elspeth Guild,2017-05-15 Focusing in particular on the European borders this volume brings together an interdisciplinary group of academics to consider questions of immigration and the free movement of people linking control within the state to the role of the police and internal security The contributors all take as the point of departure the significance of European governmentality within the Foucauldian meaning as opposed to the European governance perspective which is already well represented in the literature They discuss the relation between control of borders introduction of biometrics and freedom The book makes available in English an analysis of an important and politically highly charged field from a major French critical perspective It draws on different disciplines including law politics international relations and philosophy Refugees ,1989 EU-Russian Border Security Serghei

Golunov,2012-10-02 The land border between Russia and the European Union is one of the longest land borders in the world with very considerable trade flowing across the border in both directions This book examines the nature of the EU Russia border and the issues connected with its management It describes the territories and the societies on each side of the border discusses the challenges which confront border management including migration and criminal activities and explores how people on both sides perceive each other and perceive threats and security issues It concludes by assessing achievements to date in managing the border and by assessing continuing unresolved challenges Thinking Enlarged Martin Brusis,Janis

A. Emmanouilidis,2002 This volume represents a substantial effort to involve the accession countries in the debate on the future of the European Union Hitherto the citizens and public in accession countries have been mainly concerned with the when and how of enlargement framing the future of the European Union as an issue of interest mainly for the current 15 member states The present volume contributes to increasing the knowledge base in the accession countries but also on the applicants on the kind of new EU members they are likely to become in an enlarged EU The authors analyse the institutional system of the EU from the viewpoint of accession countries developing arguments on contentious issues of the current debate finalit delimitation of competences role of national parliaments reform of the Council Important EU policies Common Foreign and Security Policy Justice and Home Affairs fiscal constitution Common Agricultural and Cohesion Policy are investigated with respect to accession country interests Articles dealing with the perception of Enhanced Co operation and the Nice Treaty Reform in accession countries give an insight into emerging EU policy approaches of the future new member
