Dracula's Guest Michael Sims, 2011-10-03 For fans of Bram Stoker and Stephenie Meyer alike a scintillating collection of gems from the golden age of vampire stories      Scapegoat Charlie Campbell, 2012-02-02 A brief and vital account of humanity's long history of playing the blame game from Adam and Eve to modern politics a relevant and timely subject The Daily Telegraph We may have come a long way from the days when a goat was symbolically saddled with all the iniquities of the children of Israel and driven into the wilderness but has our desperate need to absolve ourselves by pinning the blame on someone else really changed all that much Charlie Campbell highlights the plight of all those others who have found themselves in the wrong place at the wrong time illustrating how God needs the Devil as Sherlock Holmes needs Professor Moriarty or James Bond needs Goldfinger Scapegoat is a tale of human foolishness that exposes the anger and irrationality of blame mongering while reminding readers of their own capacity for it From medieval witch burning to reality TV this is a brilliantly relevant and timely social history that looks at the obsession mania persecution and injustice of scapegoating A wry entertaining study of the history of blame Trenchantly sardonic Kirkus Reviews      Making an Exit Sarah

Murray, 2011-10-11 Thoughtful amusing and provocative Making an Exit will transform the way you look at life's last passage Because as Murray discovers death is for many not an ending but the start of something new Author and journalist Sarah Murray never gave much thought to what might ultimately happen to her remains that was until her father died While he'd always insisted that the organic matter left after a person takes their last breath had no significance he surprised his family by setting down elaborate arrangements for the scattering of his own ashes This unexpected last request prompted Murray to embark on a series of voyages to discover how our end is commemorated around the globe and how we approach our own mortality Spanning continents and centuries Making an Exit is Murray's exploration of the extraordinary creativity unleashed when we seek to dignify the dead Along the way she encounters a cremation in Bali in which two royal personages are placed in giant decorative bulls and consigned to the afterlife in a burst of flames a chandelier in the Czech Republic made entirely from human bones a weeping ceremony in Iran and a Philippine village where the casketed dead are left hanging in caves She even goes to Ghana to commission her own fantasy coffin The accounts of these journeys are fascinating poignant and funny But this is also a very personal quest on her travels Murray is seeking inspiration for her own eventual send off

Science of the Seance Beth A. Robertson, 2016-11-28 In the 1920s and 30s people gathered in darkened rooms to explore the paranormal through seances They were motivated by grief spiritual devotion or a desire to be entertained Beth A Robertson resurrects the story of a small transnational group and their quest for objective knowledge of the supernatural casting new light on how science metaphysics and the senses collided to inform gendered norms in this era Robertson draws back the curtain to reveal a world inhabited by researchers spirits and spiritual mediums Representing themselves as masters of the senses untainted by the effeminized subjectivity of the body psychical researchers in Canada the UK and the US believed that they could use machines and empirical methods to transform the seance into a laboratory of the spirits and a transnational empirical project However mediums and ghostly subjects could and did challenge their claims to scientific expertise and authority
