Verification Plans Peet James, 2011-06-28 Verification is job one in today's modern design process Statistics tell us that the verification process takes up a majority of the overall work Chips that come back dead on arrival scream that verification is at fault for not finding the mistakes How do we ensure success After an accomplishment have you ever had someone ask you Are you good or are you just lucky Many design projects depend on blind luck in hopes that the chip will work Others just adamantly rely on their own abilities to bring the chip to success In either case how can we tell the difference between being good or lucky There must be a better way not to fail Failure No one likes to fail In his book The Logic of Failure Dietrich Dörner argues that failure does not just happen A series of wayward steps leads to disaster Often these wayward steps are not really logical decisive steps but more like default omissions Anti planning if you will an ad hoc approach to doing something To not plan then is to fail
