The Curtiss P 40 Tomahawk:

Curtiss P-40 Jacek Nowicki, Andre R. Zbiegniewski, 2000 Curtiss P-40 Carl Molesworth, 2013-05-20 The initial version of the Curtiss P 40 designated by the manufacturer as the Hawk H 81 combined the established airframe of the earlier radial powered H 75 P 36 fighter with the Allison V 1710 liquid cooled engine. The year was 1939 and the marriage was one of expediency. With the threat of war in Europe growing by the day the US Army Air Corps brass wanted a modern fighter that would combine the sterling handling qualities of the P 36 with a boost in performance that would make it competitive with the new types emerging in Germany and England and the generals wanted the new plane immediately. The P 40 delivered admirably and though it never reached the performance levels of the Bf 109 or Spitfire the sturdy fighter nevertheless made a place in history for itself as the Army's frontline fighter when the US entered World War II. Long nosed P 40s initially saw combat in North Africa flying in Royal Air Force squadrons. They also fought in the skies over Pearl Harbor and the Philippines. But the long nosed P 40 is best known as the shark faced fighter flown by the American Volunteer Group the legendary Flying Tigers over Burma and China during 1941-42 Curtiss P-40 Marek Ryś, 2000 Curtiss P-40 Warhawk

Tomasz Szlagor, 2015 Curtiss P 40 known to Americans as Warhawk and to their allies of the British Commonwealth as Tomahawk and Kittyhawk fought on nearly all fronts of the Second World War serving with the American British Australian New Zealand South African Canadian Free French Chinese Dutch and Soviet air forces. The American Warhawks were part of as many as nine US Army Air Forces stationed overseas the 5th Australia New Guinea Philippines the 6th Central America the 7th central Pacific the 9th Middle East North Africa the 10th India Burma the 11th Alaska Aleutians the 12th North Africa Italy the 13th the Solomons and the 14th China. During the first years of the war the P 40 helped the Allies stem the offensive of the Axis powers and fight them back at the last ditch defensive positions like Kunming in China Port Moresby on New Guinea Darwin in Australia or El Alamein in Egypt. Never a high performance fighter it nonetheless proved a potent weapon in capable hands. Often turned into a fighter bomber in later years it soldiered on until phased out in favor of more advanced designs Curtiss P-40 Warhawk David Doyle, 2017-10-18 The Curtiss P 40 had a production run of 13 738 aircraft making it the third most produced US fighter of WWII. Famous as the shark mouthed aircraft of the legendary American Volunteer Group Flying Tigers the P 40 was first flown in 1938 and was used by the United States and many of its Allies throughout the war. This volume tells the story of this iconic aircraft from design and construction to combat use to detailed images of existing examples through carefully researched photos some of which have never before been published and which are reproduced in remarkable clarity. These stunning photos coupled with descriptive and informative captions put the reader in the skies with this historic aircraft

Curtiss P-40 Carl Molesworth, 2013-11-20 An improved version of the Allison V 1710 engine gave rise to the Curtiss H 87 which began life in 1941 as the P 40D and featured a completely redesigned fuselage. The shorter and deeper nose of the new fighter gave it a decidedly snub nosed appearance compared to the earlier P

40 models Curtiss continued to tweak the H 87 for the next two years in the search for better performance but the last major version the P 40N was only marginally faster than the first In the process Curtiss even tried an engine change to the Packard Merlin in the P 40F and L but to no avail What the late model P 40s lacked in speed and service ceiling they traded for maneuverability durability and availability Their niche became fighter bomber operations and they fought on fronts as varied as the arctic wastes of the Aleutian Islands and Iceland the steaming jungles of the South Pacific and the barren deserts of North Africa P 40s were a common sight in the skies over Burma and China Sicily and Italy and western Russia as well By the time production ceased in 1944 Curtiss had produced nearly 14 000 P 40s The Curtiss P-40 Tomahawk Ray Wagner,1965
