individual actors therefore allows for a better understanding of complex UN decision making Demonstrates how these civil servants matter looking at what their agency is based on Offering a new and distinctive model Bode seeks to move towards a comprehensive conceptualisation of individual agency which is currently conspicuous for its absence in many theoretical approaches that address policy change Uses three key case studies of international civil servants Francis Deng Mahbub ul Haq and Marrack Goulding to explore the possibilities of this specific group of UN individuals to act as agents of change and thereby test the prevailing notion that international bureaucrats can only act as agents of the status quo This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of international organizations and the United Nations History ,1929 College
