Tiktok Act Practice 2025:

Narrative Theory in Journalistic Practice Yngve Benestad Hågvar, Harald Hornmoen, Jørgen Alnæs, 2025-11-28 Narrative Theory in Journalistic Practice provides innovative analytical frameworks for examining journalistic narratives in today's digital multimodal media landscape. The volume expands beyond traditional models focused on linear texts to address contemporary formats across multiple platforms. Through empirical analyses of genres such as immersive long form stories, live news reports, social media news, podcasts, and still images, the book explores the dual function of journalistic narratives: they are suited to engage readers in both trivial and complex events and issues, but will also advance certain interpretations of reality and downplay others. The book conveys a critical and constructivist view on narratives, showing how journalistic stories contribute to shaping people's understanding of reality but also how media users play an active role in interpreting the narratives. The volume will interest students and scholars of journalism, media studies, and narrative studies. It is intended for use by graduate students as well as by established researchers.

Media Pluralism in the Digital Era Elda Brogi, Iva Nenadić, Pier Luigi Parcu, 2024-09-13 Bringing together scholars, journalists, and researchers from 27 European countries, this book provides a comparative and longitudinal analysis of the evolution of conditions and standards relevant for sustainable, free, and plural media and journalism in Europe in the last ten years. Approaching the challenging and ever-changing concept of media pluralism from various complementary and sometimes conflicting angles, combining legal, economic, social, and political perspectives, chapters provide a holistic account of the concept of media pluralism, a key condition for a well-functioning democracy. This book draws on data from the Media Pluralism Monitor project, a scientific tool designed and implemented on a regular basis to document the health of media ecosystems to provide insights into central dimensions of media systems across the EU and candidate countries. These include the fundamental protection of freedom of expression and safety of journalists and the independence of media authorities, market plurality, transparency of ownership, media concentration, media viability, competition enforcement, and digital platforms dominance, disinformation, media literacy, and digital challenges, political independence, conflicts of interest, editorial autonomy, and the independence of public service media, social inclusiveness including access to media and representation of women and community media. Offering a comprehensive overview of key areas of EU media policy, causes and solutions for the media economic struggle and innovative examples of business models for journalism in the digital age, this book is recommended reading for advanced students and researchers of media policy and regulation as well as policymakers.
