Ortals,2014-07-08 This book explores how gender intersects with political violence and particularly terrorism We ask how gender relations and understandings of femininity and masculinity influence political violence which includes politics related to terrorism state terrorism and genocide We investigate how women cope with and influence the politics of terrorism and genocide The book s goals are descriptive and analytical We 1 describe in what ways women are present and or perceived as absent in political contexts involving violence and 2 analyze what gender assumptions identities and frames women face and themselves express and act upon regarding political violence encountered in their lives The manuscript is divided into seven chapters introduction women as victims survivors of violence women as perpetrators of violence women in social movements responding to violence women politicians leading policy regarding violence the public opinion of women and men concerning violence and a conclusion Each chapter explores the intersection between gender and terrorism through the lens of the chapter focus Instructor's manual to accompany Understanding politics Thomas M. Magstadt,1988 Guarding the Guardians Mathurin C. Hougnikpo,2016-04-22 The relationship between civil society and the armed forces is an essential part of any polity democratic or otherwise because a military force is after all a universal feature of social systems Despite significant progress moving towards democracy among some African countries in the past decade all too many African militaries have yet to accept core democratic principles regulating civilian authority over the military This book explores the theory of civil military relations and moves on to review the intrusion of the armed forces in African politics by looking first into the organization and role of the army in pre colonial and colonial eras before examining contemporary armies and their impact on society Furthermore it revisits the various explanations of military takeovers in Africa and disentangles the notion of the military as the modernizing force Whether as a revolutionary force as a stabilizing force or as a modernizing force the military has often been perceived as the only organized and disciplined group with the necessary skills to uplift newly independent nations The performance of Africa s military governments since independence however has soundly disproven this thesis As such this study conveys the necessity of new civil military relations in Africa and calls not just for civilian control of the military but rather a democratic oversight of the security forces in Africa Introduction to Globalization Rosa Gomez Dierks,2001 Globalization is generally covered in graduate courses which focus primarily on critical perspectives This book fills the gap in the study of globalization as an introductory text suitable for undergraduates In addition this text includes entire chapters on subjects only partially covered in other texts such as regionalism global education interactive politics think tanks NGOs and IFIs This work integrates important topics to give students a broad understanding of the complex political economic and technological interaction among the key players in the globalization process governments MNCs NGOs think tanks and international financial institutions All chapters include review questions exercises and web links to help students apply concepts and theories The final chapter presents five short case studies to encourage students to apply problem solving skills in addressing the challenges of globalization in the 21st century A Burnham Publishers book

Malaysia's United Nations Peacekeeping Operations (1960-2010) Asri Salleh,Asmady Idris,2021-01-04 Small and developing states make up the majority of participants in United Nations Peacekeeping Operations UNPKO and Malaysia is one of these The numerous previous studies on Malaysia's UNPKO are primarily historical narratives which focus on practical policy related issues and due process making no attempt to synchronize the nexus between theory and policy analysis Nor do they cover the theoretical aspect which can operationalize and address the question of the roles played by Malaysia's domestic actors foreign policy executives legislature military media public opinion in the respective decision making processes as well as those of external level such as international power politics and geopolitical considerations In other words they are predominantly a historical narrative of only several Malaysia's UNPKO This book fills the critical gap It deliberates on the respective national and international decision making processes especially from the Malaysian point of view and analyses the theoretical and practical impacts of Malaysia's UNPKO in understanding international politics Apart from providing a well researched account of Malaysia's UNPKO across the globe for 50 years i e 1960-2010 this book examines the determinants by using qualitative data particularly key informant interviews and documentary analysis Thus while most studies of Malaysia's UNPKO single out domestic imperatives as the most vital determinant this book on the contrary comprehensively identifies the prevailing world security order as the most important determinant influencing Malaysia's UNPKO followed by the domestic ones
