Musical Bows and Zithers along the Great Silk Road Xiao Mei, Gisa Jähnichen, 2023-10-04 The musical bow is usually considered one of the earliest instruments in the history of instrumental development yet the validity of this view has not been proven. In all likelihood it was one among many other early instruments created to produce sound. The same can be said in general for all the simple chordophones called zithers of which the musical bow is one type. The papers collected in this volume have been initially presented at the International Council for Traditional Music Colloquium ICTM held in Shanghai in December 2022. They try to challenge some previous depictions of instrumental development and one sided explanations of musical histories. They specifically focus on exploring the interrelationship between instrumental development and the availability of natural resources in particular geographical regions. While the papers at the colloquium focused on sound production they also explored the role of ethnomusicology as a discipline in guiding local decision making and interregional research co operation. Journal of the American Musical Instrument Society American Musical Instrument Society, 2006

Sounds Wild and Broken David George Haskell, 2022-03-01 Finalist for the 2023 Pulitzer Prize in General Nonfiction and the 2023 PEN E O Wilson Literary Science Writing Award. Winner of the Acoustical Society of America's 2023 Science Communication Award. A glorious guide to the miracle of life's sound. The New York Times Book Review. A lyrical exploration of the diverse sounds of our planet the creative processes that produced these marvels and the perils that sonic diversity now faces. We live on a planet alive with song music and speech. David Haskell explores how these wonders came to be. In rain forests shimmering with insect sound and swamps pulsing with frog calls we learn about evolution's creative powers. From birds in the Rocky Mountains and on the streets of Paris we discover how animals learn their songs and adapt to new environments. Below the waves we hear our kinship to beings as different as snapping shrimp toadfish and whales. In the startlingly divergent sonic vibes of the animals of different continents we experience the legacies of plate tectonics the deep history of animal groups and their movements around the world and the quirks of aesthetic evolution. Starting with the origins of animal song and traversing the whole arc of Earth history Haskell illuminates and celebrates the emergence of the varied sounds of our world. In mammoth ivory flutes from Paleolithic caves violins in modern concert halls and electronic music in earbuds we learn that human music and language belong within this story of ecology and evolution. Yet we are also destroyers now silencing or smothering many of the sounds of the living Earth. Haskell takes us to threatened forests noise filled oceans and loud city streets and shows that sonic crises are not mere losses of sensory ornament. Sound is a generative force and so the erasure of sonic diversity makes the world less creative just and beautiful. The appreciation of the beauty and brokenness of sound is therefore an important guide in today's convulsions and crises of change and inequity. Sounds Wild and Broken is an invitation to listen wonder belong and act. Newsletter - American Musical Instrument Society American Musical Instrument Society, 2004. Music Research Laurie J.
