South African Literature After The Truth Commission Mapping Loss:

South African Literature After the Truth Commission Shane Graham,2009-04-15 In the wake of apartheid South African culture conveys the sense of being lost in time and space The Truth Commission provided an opportunity for South Africans to find their bearings in a nation changing at a bewildering pace the TRC also marked the beginning of a long process of remapping space place and memory In this groundbreaking book Shane Graham investigates how post apartheid theatre makers and writers of fiction poetry and memoir have taken this project forward using their art to come to terms with South Africa's violent past and rapidly changing present Writing, Politics and Change in South Africa after Apartheid

Christopher Warnes,2023-06-08 This book shows how South African writing can help us to understand change after apartheid It aims to shift the attention of literary criticism away from a narrow set of highbrow South African authors and towards a wider range of texts including popular fiction The object of analysis at its largest level is the South African polity as it veered between the hopeful optimism of the Rainbow nation under Nelson Mandela the murderous muddling of Thabo Mbeki and the captured state under Jacob Zuma Questions of a political economic and sociological cast are central with changes in the workplace land reform indigenous knowledge xenophobia corruption and crime providing specific points of focus Writing Politics and Change in South Africa after Apartheid shows how creative literature of the post apartheid period has a unique and powerful capacity to illuminate these issues and to intervene in our understanding of them Popular

Spaces in Post-Apartheid Literature Nafeesa T. Nichols,2026-01-08 This book analyzes how racialized and gendered city spaces are presented in post apartheid South African literature Trauma and Literature J. Roger Kurtz,2018-03-15 As a concept trauma has attracted a great deal of interest in literary studies A key term in psychoanalytic approaches to literary study trauma theory represents a critical approach that enables new modes of reading and of listening It is a leading concept of our time applicable to individuals cultures and nations This book traces how trauma theory has come to constitute a discrete but influential approach within literary criticism in recent decades It offers an overview of the genesis and growth of literary trauma theory recording the evolution of the concept of trauma in relation to literary studies In twenty one essays covering the origins development and applications of trauma in literary studies Trauma and Literature addresses the relevance and impact this concept has in the field Beyond Alterity: Contemporary Indian Fiction and the Neoliberal Script

Shakti Jaising,2023-09-15 Beyond Alterity contests a core tendency in postcolonial studies as well as emerging critiques of neoliberalism to assume that nations of the Global South are categorically distinct from their counterparts in the North and that they provide an alternative or even an antidote to the competitive and individualistic cultures of the advanced capitalist world Through a textured analysis of cultural production from contemporary India Shakti Jaising argues that neoliberal capitalism has produced significant continuities in class dynamics and subjective experience across the North South divide continuities that are at least as worthy of our consideration as differences arising from colonialism and its aftereffects The book engages an array of political economic and cultural narratives while focusing in particular on widely circulating Indian English language novels and their audio visual adaptations that demonstrate the growing currency of a neoliberal script extolling values like privatization and deregulation as conduits to both individual growth and national development as well as freedom from poverty. With their potent enactments of personal and national maturation contemporary Indian novels and films offer striking illustrations of the imaginative means by which the neoliberal script proliferates even as economic precarity and inequality worsen in India much like elsewhere in the world. Whereas literary scholars tend to approach the Indian English novel as an exemplar of resistance from the formerly colonized world Beyond Alterity contends that far from inevitably modelling resistance this genre's contemporary examples instead encapsulate the challenges of disentangling literature from the all pervasive logics and narratives of neoliberal capitalism

Gender, Globalization, and Violence Sandra Ponzanesi, 2014-07-11 This wide ranging collection of essays elaborates on some of the most pressing issues in contemporary postcolonial society in their transition from conflict and contestation to dialogue and resolution. It explores from new angles questions of violent conflict forced migration trafficking and deportation human rights citizenship transitional justice and cosmopolitanism. The volume focuses more specifically on the gendering of violence from a postcolonial perspective as it analyses unique cases that disrupt traditional visions of violence by including the history of empire and colony and its legacies that continue to influence present day configurations of gender race nationality class and sexuality. Part One maps out the gendered and racialized contours of conflict zones from war zones prisons and refugee camps to peacekeeping missions and humanitarian aid reframing the field and establishing connections between colonial legacies and postcolonial dynamics. Part Two explores how these conflict zones are played out not just outside but also within Europe demonstrating that multicultural Europe is fraught with different legacies of violence and postcolonial melancholia. Part Three gives an idea of the kind of future that can be offered to post conflict societies defined as contact zones by exploring opportunities for dialogue restoration and reconciliation that can be envisaged from a gendered and postcolonial perspective through alternative feminist practices and the work of art and their redemptive power in mobilizing social change or increasing national healing processes. Though strongly anchored in postcolonial critique the chapters draw from a range of traditions and expertise including conflict studies gender theory visual studies new media theory sociology race theory international security studies and religion studies

Spatial Justice After Apartheid Jaco Barnard-Naudé, Julia Chryssostalis, 2022-08-25 This book considers the question of spatial justice after apartheid from several disciplinary perspectives: jurisprudence, law, literature, architecture, photography, and psychoanalysis are just some of the disciplines engaged here. However, the main theoretical device on which the authors comment is the legacy of what in Carl Schmitt's terms is nomos as the spatialised normativity of sociality. Each author considers within the practical and theoretical constraints of their topic the question of what nomos in its modern configuration may or may not contribute to a thinking of spatial justice after apartheid On the whole the collection forces a confrontation between law s spatiality in a postcolonial era on the one hand and the traumatic legacy of what Paul Gilroy has called the colonial nomos on the other hand In the course of this confrontation critical questions of continuation extension disruption and rewriting are raised and confronted in novel and innovative ways that both challenge Schmitt s account of nomos and affirm the centrality of the constitutive relation between law and space The book promises to resituate the trajectory of nomos while considering critical instances through which the spatial legacy of apartheid might at last be overcome This interdisciplinary book will appeal to scholars of critical legal theory political philosophy aesthetics and architecture

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2009 Cultural Entanglements Shane Graham,2020-05-12 In addition to being a poet fiction writer playwright and essayist Langston Hughes was also a globe trotting cosmopolitan travel writer translator avid international networker and perhaps above all pan Africanist In Cultural Entanglements Shane Graham examines Hughes s associations with a number of black writers from the Caribbean and Africa exploring the implications of recognizing these multiple facets of the African American literary icon and of taking a truly transnational approach to his life work and influence Graham isolates and maps Hughes s cluster of black Atlantic relations and interprets their significance Moving chronologically through Hughes s career from the 1920s to the 1960s he spotlights Jamaican poet and novelist Claude McKay Haitian novelist and poet Jacques Roumain French Negritude author Aim C saire of Martinique South African writers Es kia Mphahlele and Peter Abrahams and Caribbean American novelist Paule Marshall Taken collectively these writers intellectual relationships with Hughes and with one another reveal a complex conversation and sometimes a heated debate happening globally throughout the twentieth century over what Africa signified and what it meant to be black in the modern world Graham makes a truly original contribution not only to the study of Langston Hughes and African and Caribbean literatures but also to contemporary debates about cosmopolitanism the black Atlantic and transnational cultures
