Study Guide For The Disability Studies Reader:

Critical Approaches to Teaching the High School Novel Crag Hill, Victor Malo-Juvera, 2018-10-25 This edited collection will turn a critical spotlight on the set of texts that has constituted the high school canon of literature for decades. By employing a set of fresh vibrant critical lenses such as youth studies and disabilities studies that are often unfamiliar to advanced students and scholars of secondary English this book provides divergent approaches to traditional readings and pedagogical practices surrounding these familiar works. By introducing and applying these interpretive frames to the field of secondary English education this book demonstrates that there is more to say about these texts ways to productively problematize them and to reconfigure how they may be read and used in the classroom

This book explores how social economic and political forces have shaped the meaning of occupation throughout history. From the trade union fight for shorter hours to the feminist reimagining of domestic labour the book examines the struggles over who defines occupation and for whose benefit. With case studies by activist scholars this provocative book reveals how conflicts are central to shaping modern social relations

Chemers, Analola Santana, 2024 The long awaited follow up to Garland Thomson's field defining book Freakery Freak Inheritance illuminates the convergence of the freak show era with the eugenics era explicating the cultural work of the freak show as a compelling range of performances of cultural and social Others that emerge as eugenic targets from the late 19th century into the 20th century and beyond This book explores the wildly popular performances that told compelling stories about categories of people that scientific and social scientific discourses increasingly described and sometimes still describe as biologically inferior Although much work has emerged recently about the history of eugenics this collection highlights the specific ways that modes of exaggerated commercial popular performances create a public conversation that mirrors pathological narratives of human difference that are now firmly established as the categories of normal and abnormal healthy and diseased beneficial and harmful This connection between narratives of freakery and normalcy gesture towards a fuller understanding of how eugenic thinking has re emerged strongly as a force in medical science and cultural thinking aimed at producing the supposed best and most useful kinds of people

Reading and Writing Disability Differently

Tanya Titchkosky, 2007 Mixing rigorous social theory with concrete analysis Reading and Writing Disability Differently unpacks the marginality of disabled people by addressing how the meaning of our bodily existence is configured in everyday literate society Tanya Titchkosky begins by illustrating how news media and policy texts reveal dominant Western ways of constituting the meaning of people and the meaning of problems as they relate to our understandings of the embodied self Her goal is to configure disability as something more than a problem and beyond simply a positive or a negative and to treat texts on disability as potential sites to examine neo liberal culture Titchkosky holds that through an exploration of the potential behind limited representations of disability we can relate to disability as a meaningful form of resistance to the restricted normative order of contemporary embodiment Incorporating a textual analysis of ordinary depictions of disability this innovative study promises to represent embodied differences in new ways and alter our imaginative relations to the politics of the body
