Durable

Good, Extended Warranty and Channel Coordination Preyas S. Desai, Paddy Padmanabhan, 2004 The marketing literature on product warranty and extended warranty has largely focused on their role as segmentation instruments in risk averse consumer markets Preserving this insurance rationale we highlight the role of extended warranty in channel coordination We derive explicit demand functions for the durable good and extended warranty from a traditional model of consumer utility This derivation explicitly captures the complementary goods flavor of extended warranty We then investigate the impact of different distributional arrangements commonly observed in the marketplace for market outcomes and manufacturer profitability We show that two key forces drive the results the complementary goods effect and the double marginalization effect Different channel arrangements for marketing of extended warranty cause these effects occur at different levels within a distribution channel and these are shown to have significant implications for the optimal warranty policy

Netflix, Inc Alan Nathan Hoffman, 2013 In 2011 Netflix was the world's largest online movie rental service Its subscribers paid to have DVDs delivered to their homes through the U.S. mail or to access and watch unlimited TV shows and movies streamed over the Internet to their TVs mobile devices or computers The company was founded by Marc Randolph and Reed Hastings in August 1997 in Scotts Valley California after they had left Pure Software Hastings was inspired to start Netflix after being charged 40 for an overdue video Initially Netflix provided movies at 6 per rental but moved to a monthly subscription rate in 1999 dropping the single rental model soon after From then on the company built its reputation on the business model of flat fee unlimited rentals per month without any late fees or shipping and handling fees Netflix the World's Most Entertaining Platform - Behind the Scenes Anvitha Penmatcha,2022 Technology has completely changed There was a time when there were no televisions There was a time when a family used to gather in the living room and watch television But technology has completely changed Now technology has changed so much that we discarded all the old methods and landed into a new era where we use mobile phones and laptops to watch movies In this era you can watch whatever you want whenever you want however you want Now let's talk about the company which made this possible Netflix is the world's best entertainment platform today Nowadays almost every house has a Netflix subscription but no one knows how Netflix started or how it is successful Now every house has a laptop or a phone or a tab to binge watch on Netflix But Netflix didn't start as an online platform It started as a rental DVD store Netflix established itself as a movie rental platform it was founded on August 29 1997 Netflix became the main entertaining channel with many web series movies and documentaries in 2007 They offer customers hours of entertainment at home Netflix first started as a DVD rental store They opened stores where people can rent a DVD for a few days But then they were only available in a few places like San Francisco California Then Netflix expanded itself across the United States Then they started delivering the DVDs across the United States They also started Subscriptions where customers can book DVDs for limited days Netflix also started a family subscription where the customer can take 4 DVDs and they can keep them for a month This strategy made Netflix successful in 1999 Then in 2007 Netflix went digital and the subscription was free of cost Then they started an online subscription with payment They provided movies online Then they started streaming series and documentaries In 2011 Netflix completely stopped DVD stores They started coming up with new series documentaries and movies which are only available on Netflix This is how Netflix got its success
