Supernanny How To Get The Best From Your Children:

Supernanny Jo Frost, 2005 Jo Frost aka Supernanny is the answer to every stressed parent's dreams. In Channel 4's prime time series Jo works miracles on problem children by dispensing tough love, no nonsense rules and reassuring us that parents do know best. The Supernanny method gives parents the know how to tackle any problem area be it mealtime, bedtime, bedwetting, homework, sibling rivalry, aggressive behaviour or a child who just won't do what he or she is told. In an era where parents are bombarded with conflicting or guilt laden messages at every turn and sometimes obey their kids' commands rather than the other way around, this is an upbeat back to basics approach to restoring harmony and authority in the home. Jo has a magical way with children but her methods are simple and can and do work for anyone. Regular routine, consistency, verbal warnings, time out after misbehaviour and rewarding good behaviour with lots of attention: your ten month old won't sleep through the night or your two year old is out of control. Jo knows what to do and can show you how to do it. For anyone who doesn't feel in charge at home, this is a godsend of a book full of brilliantly commonsense advice, the only parenting book you'll ever want.

Governing Through Pedagogy Jessica Pykett, 2013-09-13 This edited collection brings together researchers from education, human geography, sociology, social policy and political theory in order to consider the idea of the pedagogical state as a means of understanding the strategies employed to re-educate citizens. The book aims to critically interrogate the cultural practices of governing citizens in contemporary liberal societies. Governing through pedagogy can be identified as an emerging tactic by which both state agencies and other non-state actors manage, administer, discipline, shape care for and enable liberal citizens. Hence discourses of active citizenship, participatory democracy, community empowerment personalised responsibility behaviour change and community cohesion are productively viewed through the conceptual lens of the pedagogical state Chapters consider the spaces of schools universities the voluntary sector civil society organisations parenting initiatives the media government departments and state agencies as fruitful empirical sites through which pedagogy is worked and re worked This book was originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies

Narcissistic Parenting in an Insecure World Harry Hendrick, 2016-07-06 In this provocative history of parenting Harry Hendrick analyses the social and economic reasons behind parenting trends He shows how broader social changes including neoliberalism feminism the collapse of the social democratic ideal and the new behaviourism have led to the rise of the anxious and narcissistic parent The book charts the shift from the liberal and progressive parenting styles of the 1940s 70s to the more behavioural punitive and managerial methods of childrearing today made popular by experts such as Gina Ford and Supernanny Jo Frost and by New Labour's parent education programmes This trend Hendrick argues is symptomatic of the sour mean spirited and vindictive social norms found throughout society today It undermines the better instincts of parents and therefore damages parent child relations Instead he proposes parents should focus on understanding and helping their children as they work at growing up
