Weather Conditions Among Different Climates

Weather is the condition of the atmosphere in a particular place and time. The term "weather conditions" refers to the condition of the atmosphere in a specific place and at a specific time. You will hear this term used throughout this tutorial. Factors of weather include air temperature, air pressure, humidity, wind speed, wind direction, and precipitation.

Weather is all around us all the time. What we wear and where we live are determined by the weather. Weather can change every day, even every hour.

Weather Conditions

Let's look at some weather conditions. The person in the photo is wearing a raincoat and umbrella, so it must be raining. The palm trees in the photo are leaning to the left, so the wind is blowing from the right.
