Meeting, 2001 New Scientist and Science Journal, 1978 Women and the Criminal Justice System Katherine S. Van Wormer, Clemens Bartollas, 2007 This text examines the various roles of women in the criminal justice system against a social context in which women are oppressed. The text examines the following three roles of women in criminal justice: Women as victims of crimes, Women as criminals convicted and sentenced for crimes, Women as workers in various agencies in the criminal justice system. This text emphasizes content on gender and ethnic diversity and on the strengths of oppressed people especially women of color. A wide range of issues are covered including the rate of early childhood sexual abuse, victimization in female inmates, priest abuse of girls, female inmate rape by male prison guard, and obstacles for women lawyers achieving partnerships in their firms. The authors provide a wealth of recent data drawn from both domestic and international human rights sources as well as from personal interviews. The final portion of the text describes women's setbacks in entering the traditionally male dominated fields of policing, the law, and corrections. If people are given half a chance, they can draw on their own resources to heal from the past and build for the future. This empowerment approach is already prominent in the social work field and widely used in victim treatment programs for working with female offenders. Psyche in the Lab Mary Violette Seeman, Neil Seeman, 2006 Commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Canadian Psychiatric Research Foundation, this volume celebrates the creativity and dedication of Canadian scientists who have helped unravel some of the mysteries of the mind over recent years.
