Time in Television Narrative Melissa Ames, 2012-10-01 This collection analyzes twenty first century American television programs that employ temporal and narrative experimentation These shows play with time slowing it down to unfold narrative through time retardation and compression They disrupt the chronological flow of time itself using flashbacks and insisting that viewers be able to situate themselves in both the present and the past narrative threads Although temporal play has existed on the small screen prior to the new millennium never before has narrative time been so freely adapted in mainstream television The essayists offer explanations for not only the frequency of time play in contemporary programming but also the implications of its sometimes disorienting presence Drawing upon the fields of cultural studies television scholarship and literary studies as well as overarching theories concerning postmodernity and narratology Time in Television Narrative offers some critical suggestions The increasing number of television programs concerned with time may stem from any and all of the following recent scientific approaches to quantum physics and temporality new conceptions of history and post history or trends in late capitalistic production and consumption in the new culture of instantaneity or in the recent trauma culture amplified after the September 11 attacks In short these televisual time experiments may very well be an aesthetic response to the climate from which they derive These essays analyze both ends of this continuum and also attend to another crucial variable the television viewer watching this new temporal play

Time on TV Lorna Jowett, Kevin Robinson, David Simmons, 2016-06-22 From early examples such as Star Trek and Sapphire and Steel to more contemporary shows including Life on Mars and The Vampire Diaries time has frequently been used as a device to allow programme makers to experiment stylistically and challenge established ways of thinking Time on TV provides a range of exciting accessible yet intellectually rigorous essays that consider the many and varied ways in which telefantasy shows have explored this subject providing the reader with a greater understanding of the importance of time to the success of genre on the small screen

German Crime Dramas from Network Television to Netflix Sunka Simon, 2022-12-15 German Crime Dramas from Network Television to Netflix approaches German television crime dramas to uncover the intersections between the genre s media specific network and post network formats and how these negotiate with and contribute to concepts of the regional national and global Part I concentrates on the ARD network s long running flagship series Tatort Crime Scene 1970 Because the domestically produced crime drama succeeded in interacting with and competing against dominant U S formats during 3 different mediascapes it offers strategic lessons for post network television Situating 9 Tatort episodes in their televisual moment within the Sunday evening flow over 38 years and 3 different German regions reveals how producers writers directors critics and audiences interacted not only with the cultural socio political context but also responded to the challenges aesthetically narratively and media reflexively Part II explores how post 2017 German crime dramas Babylon Berlin Dark Perfume and Dogs of Berlin rework the genre s formal and narrative conventions for global circulation on Netflix Each chapter concentrates on the dynamic interplay between time shifted viewing transmedia storytelling genre hybridity and how these interact with projections of cultural specificity and continue or depart from established network practices The results offer crucial information and inspiration for producers and executives for creative teams program directors and television scholars

Narrative in Film and TV Eleanor Rehahn, 2008-03 In Narrative in Film and TV A Teacher s Guide Eleanor Rehahn explores the variations in narrative structure between different fictional texts She compares films from different eras in depth case studies of Casablanca and When Harry Met Sally different genres Star Wars Sleepy Hollow and different institutions Pulp Fiction and Run Lola Run and examines the many ways in which TV presents fiction to its audience from ER to The Office addressing all the major narrative theories along the way

Serializing Age Maricel Oro-Piqueras, Anita Wohlmann, 2015-12-15 Serialized storytelling provides intriguing opportunities for critical representations of age and aging In contrast to the finite character of films television narratives can unfold across hundreds of episodes and multiple seasons Contemporary viewing practices and new media technologies have resulted in complex television narratives in which experimental temporalities and revisions of narrative linearity and chronological time have become key features As the first of its kind this volume investigates how TV series as a powerful cultural medium shape representations of age and aging such as in Orange Is The New Black The Wire or Desperate Housewives to understand what it means to live in time

India's State-run Media Sanjay Asthana, 2019-05-09 Examines the intertwined genealogies of sovereignty public religion and nation and the spatiotemporal dynamics of broadcasting

Television Horace Newcomb, 1987 The fourth edition of this acclaimed work features essays on such current topics as Mr T Dallas music videos soap operas and the ideology and politics of television The contributors span a wide range of disciplines and employ a variety of approaches including semiotics cultural studies and institutional analyses along with more traditional views of plots and themes to provide readers with a broad balanced perspective on popular television

Understanding Television Texts Phil Wickham, 2007-07-15 Understanding TV Texts examines the debates that define television and looks at how they can be applied to the study of particular programmes

Signs of Time Ursula Ganz-Blättler, 2018 US prime time television drama of the earlier broadcast era featured self contained storylines and mostly amnesiac protagonists This changed with the arrival of what television scholar Horace Newcomb termed cumulative narrative Prime time series of a new era adopted narrative features more typical for daytime soap opera and leading characters began to remember where they came from This study explores the organisational patterns and generic implications leading to the rise of cumulative storytelling It also points to further venues of analysis for backstory narratives and diegetic memory in general Tuning in Ronald Wayne Rodman, 2010 Television has been called the boob tube goof box and even a vast wasteland of American culture Yet for all its banality television is in many ways a mirror of culture and communicates messages within culture through the multiple channels of visual images language sound and music All of these channels contain their own unique coded messages to create the larger meaningful text of television As one of these sensory channels music contributes to meaning in television through its artistic language and through television viewers association of music with certain aspects of culture Music has always been an integral part of the American television even from its earliest days Like its parent medium of radio television broadcasts music to entertain viewers with live and video taped performances but music has also come to play a much larger role in television beyond its pleasurable performance aspects Music is used in narrative programs to evoke moods and identify characters and setting it is used to sell products through commercial jingles and most importantly music generally aids broadcast television in navigating through the continuous flow of daily programming This navigational aspect of television music is a distinctive feature and functions to transport the viewer through three spaces of TV the flow of the televisual apparatus with commercials newbreaks and promos the storyworld of each narrative program and the representational space between narrative and flow As Heard on TV is an examination and analysis of music in American television during the first fifty years of its history The book focuses on how music has functioned to serve as a navigator through the flow of television and contributing to structure narrative programs while also conveying meaning to its viewers by correlating with the images and sounds that it accompanies Drawing from precedents of the cinema and radio the book examines music in a number of classic television genres by positing a theory of functional musical spaces adapted from theories of Charles Morris Umberto Eco John Fiske and others

Rhetorical Dimensions of Popular Culture Barry Brummett, 1991 The main argument of this book is that most rhetorical theory defines rhetoric as its manifestations speeches essays poems and so forth It proposes that rhetoric be regarded as the social function that manages meaning a function with many complex manifestations The author develops a theoretical scheme to explain this concept and details principles for critical and pedagogical application of his theory In the second part of the book the author applies theory and critical principles to the complex and fragmented texts of popular culture television programmes science fiction horror films popular periodicals and novels and to the arena of urban race relations

Time, Technology and Narrative Form in Contemporary US Television Drama JP Kelly, 2017-10-09 This book examines how television has been transformed over the past twenty years by the introduction of new viewing technologies including DVDs DVRs and streaming services such as Netflix Hulu and Amazon Prime It shows that these platforms have profoundly altered the ways we access and watch television enabling viewers to pause rewind record and archive the once irreversible flow of broadcast TV JP Kelly argues that changes in the technological landscape of television has encouraged the production of narrative forms that both explore and embody new industrial temporalities Focusing on US television but also considering the role of TV within a global marketplace the author identifies three distinct narrative temporalities acceleration 24 Prison Break complexity Lost FlashForward and retrospection Mad Men Through industrial textual analysis of television shows this cross disciplinary study locates these narrative temporalities in their socio cultural contexts and examines connections between production distribution and narrative form in the contemporary television industry Open Letter Frank Davey,1993 Mass Communication Research Methods: Researching media institutions, organisations, professionals and production (continued). Political economy (media institutions). The political economy of communications Anders Hansen,2009 Television in Black-and-white America Alan Nadel,2005 La couverture indigne Alan Nadel s new book reminds us that most of the images on early TV were decidedly Caucasian and directed at predominantly white audiences Television did not invent whiteness for America but it did reinforce it as the norm particularly during the Cold War years Nadel now shows just how instrumental it was in constructing a narrow conservative and very white vision of America During this era prime time TV was dominated by adult Westerns with heroes like The Rebel s Johnny Yuma reincarnating Southern values and Bonanza s Cartwright family reinforcing the notion of white patriarchy programs that Nadel shows bristled with Cold War messages even as they spoke to the nation s mythology America had become visually reconfigured as a vast Ponderosa crisscrossed by concrete highways designed to carry suburban white drivers beyond the moral challenge of racism racial poverty and increasingly vocal civil rights demands Studies of Broadcasting ,1994 Frontiers Past and Future Carl Abbott,2006 Abbott offers a fruitful new way to read science fiction one that also greatly enriches our understanding of western history and its impact on our collective imagination Detailing the overlap of science fiction and western fiction especially relating to their mutual interest in and concerns about frontier expansionism he reveals an unsuspected common ground that informs the writings of both camps Reviewing the work of many Hugo and Nebula Award winners as well as drawing upon popular film and television series like the Buck Rogers serials Abbott s study journeys across the far reaches of science fiction s universe Television Jeremy G. Butler,1994 Television explains how television programs and commercials are made and how they function as producers of meaning Author Jeremy Butler demonstrates the ways in which cinematography and videography acting lighting set design editing and sou English in Australia ,2000
