Chu, 2020-07-14 This book vividly elucidates the inseparable nature between politics and sport in China The holding of sporting mega events is viewed by the Chinese authorities as a prominent way to push forward the Reform and Opening up arouse the patriotism among the public and display national resurgence in the world Chinese cities thus have keenly quested for the Olympics the Asian Games and the World University Games since the 1980s Theoretically the President the Premier and the central government should provide all out support so boosting the Chinese cities odds of success The reality yet shows that their attitude towards the bids vary from case to case Through reviewing the 20 bidding cases this book aims to demystify the reasons behind The findings provide an in depth account of 1 how domestic and international political factors determine the state leaders blessing and silence as well as the central government's backing indifference and opposition and 2 how the bids for the sporting mega events are used to serve the broader political goals of the Chinese authorities at home and abroad. The book will be a valuable resource for researchers interested in the domestic politics and international relations of China. Civil-Military Change in China: Elites, Institutions, and Ideas after the 16th Party Congress Larry Wortzel, In November 2002 the Chinese Communist Party held its 16th Congress and formally initiated a sweeping turnover of senior leaders in both the Party and the People's Liberation Army (PLA). The meeting heralded not merely a new set of personalities in positions of political and military power but also the emergence of a new generation of leaders. Who are these individuals and what does their rise mean for the future of China and its military? The group of China specialists who have written this book have applied their research talents, intelligence, and hands-on experience to clarify and explain the most important issues of the day in China. China obviously matters to the United States because of its size, its spectacular patterns of growth, its profound problems linked to rapid growth, and its military intentions. These specialists have avoided the diseases of bias, demagoguery, predispositions, and showmanship which infect so many of the analyses of China. Rather, they have examined the facts and the trends to explain the divisions and cohesions in the Chinese leadership and their potential significance to the United States and the rest of the world. These annual conferences have a long continuity stretching back to the early 1990s. Hence, there is a common database for the books produced each year. The writers revisit major problems in China's development, particularly in the military sphere. They also examine how Chinese policies have evolved over the years and how important the United States has been in influencing China's strategy. What, for instance, will the emerging leadership with its factional differences do about Taiwan and North Korea? The conference took place at the Carlisle Barracks in September 19-21, 2003, and was sponsored by the American Enterprise Institute, the Heritage Foundation, and the Army War College. The exchanges were frank; the atmosphere was filled with camaraderie and tension. Chinese Economic Studies, 2001 The Chinese Economy, 2001 Issues & Studies, 2005 中国研究, 2002 The Journal of Parliamentary Information, 1999 SAIS Review, 2003 Bibliographic Index, 1999 China's New Rulers Andrew Nathan, Bruce Gilley, 2002 Based on internal Chinese Communist Party documents smuggled out of the country, this is a controversial look at the leaders who will shape the future of Chinese policy.
