The Long Walk to Equality Avis Whyte, Patricia Tuitt, Judith Bourne, 2024-02-20 In 1965 the UK enacted the Race Relations Act while the International Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Racial Discrimination ICERD opened for signature and ratification In the US the changes that brought down the walls of segregation conveying some equality to black people essentially began with the Civil Rights Act of 1964 These ground breaking instruments marked a commitment domestically and internationally by the state parties to the ICERD to address racial injustice and inequality through legal means Yet the intervening years reveal the challenges of pursuing racial justice and equality through the medium of law In recent years allegations of institutional racism have been levelled against numerous public institutions in the UK while the rise of populism globally has challenged the ability of law to effect change This edited collection draws attention to the need to reflect on the persistence of racial inequalities and injustices despite law s intervention and arguably because of its unconscious role in their promotion It does so from a multiplicity of perspectives ranging from the doctrinal socio legal critical and theoretical thereby generating different kinds of knowledge about race and law By exploring contemporary issues in racial justice and equality contributors examine the role of law whether domestic or international hard or soft in advancing racial equality and justice and consider whether it can effect substantive change
