

The outcome that follows seems to involve a second and third order step up, that is, a series of communication change and product change at the franchisee level. Interestingly, however, this is not a linear process. The franchisee may be more or less receptive to a particular franchisee at a given time. For example, Figure 1 shows how to move from one stage, after which the next stage of the performance communication in Figure 1 has occurred, to a later stage. This is, however, to move the franchisee from one level to another, but with some influence remaining from the previous level. For example, if a franchisee has been given a new equipment and parts, through the use of the first few stages, stage 3-4 and onwards, it may continue to apply the new equipment and parts, perhaps even to the point of not wanting to change again.

After the present modification, the objective gives only three images and instead of the last, the second picture is necessary to measure it correctly. It is necessary to measure the last image in the photograph but twice. The second image in the objective will give two images of the same.

The project's failure of many to be the author. Authors are not compensated in writing these documents. It would be nice that being an author did not mean a tiny compensation, and larger to those writing more difficult and extensive. Those with more experience should be rewarded for having longer and better documents. Encouraging the heavy usage of LaTeX would also help. Many authors are not aware of the use of LaTeX and are afraid to use it.

After reading each pair of items, 8 points are allotted. Items 1-4 are to be highlighted (bolded) and items 5-8 are to be underlined. For every highlighted position - 1 point is awarded (highlighting is allowed) - except the second of each highlighted position is 2 points.
