Valuation In Life Sciences A Practical Guide:

Valuation in Life Sciences Boris Bogdan, Ralph Villiger, 2008-03-29 This is the first complete guide to valuation in life sciences for industry professionals investors and academics Boris Bogdan and Ralph Villiger introduce the characteristics of drug and medical device development explain how to translate these into the valuation and provide valuable industry data Special emphasis is put on the practicability of the proposed methods by including many hands on examples without compromising on realistic results Intellectual Property Valuation in Biotechnology and Pharmaceuticals, 2025-09-22 Valuing intellectual property IP in the biotechnology and pharmaceutical sectors can be a daunting task but understanding the key takeaways can simplify the process Whether you are new to IP valuation or an experienced innovation management professional the key takeaways presented will guide you through the essentials From valuation methods to market analysis and risk evaluation to collaboration strategies this publication provides the crucial points to consider to unlock the full potential of your biotechnology and pharmaceutical assets Discounting the Future Liliana Doganova, 2024-02-13 A pioneering exploration of the defining traits and contradictions of our relationship to the future through the lens of discounting Forest fires droughts and rising sea levels beg a nagging question have we lost our capacity to act on the future Liliana Doganova's book sheds new light on this anxious query It argues that our relationship to the future has been trapped in the gears of a device called discounting While its incidence remains little known discounting has long been entrenched in market and policy practices shaping the ways firms and governments look to the future and make decisions accordingly Thus a sociological account of discounting formulas has become urgent Discounting means valuing things through the flows of costs and benefits that they are likely to generate in the future with these future flows being literally dis counted as they are translated in the present How have we come to think of the future and of valuation in such terms Building on original empirical research in the historical sociology of discounting Doganova takes us to some of the sites and moments in which discounting took shape and gained momentum valuation of European forests in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries economic theories devised in the early 1900s debates over business strategies in the postwar era investor state disputes over the nationalization of natural resources and drug development in the biopharmaceutical industry today Weaving these threads together the book pleads for an understanding of discounting as a political technology and of the future as a contested domain Valuations of Early-Stage Companies and Disruptive Technologies Tiran Rothman, 2020-11-27 This book will serve as a practical guide for entrepreneurs and investors advisors in constructing and understanding valuations of startups in rapidly shifting industries including the areas of drug development medical devices cyber security and renewable energy For large companies valuation is based on forecasts of free cash flow in technologically driven industries product pipelines can represent a large part of market capitalization The situation is even more critical for small companies committed to a single idea all of their value is linked to a single project Any business transaction or internal proposal to begin or terminate an R D project in which innovative projects are being valued or exchanged requires a realistic valuation of those projects Moreover different projects have very different dynamics Pharmaceuticals have very large lead times and are dependent on patents as well as out licensing agreements In contrast software develops very quickly and IP is hard to value This book will be a guide to building appropriate valuations for companies competing in rapidly shifting industries and offering products under new business models where little precedent exists taking both financial and behavioral issues into consideration The Spectator life by states manual ,1920 Intellectual Property
