Global Foodscapes Alistair

Fraser,2016-07-22 What we eat as well as how it is produced processed moved sold and used by our bodies seems to matter like never before Global Foodscapes takes on this topicality and asks readers to think about how we are all involved in the making of an odd and in many ways troubling and contested food economy It explores how food is conceived traded grown reared processed sold and consumed investigates what goes wrong along the way and assesses what diverse people around the world are doing to fix these faults The text uses a carefully crafted framework that explores the interaction of five forms of oppression and five means of resistance as they are worked out over five stages in the food economy It draws on case studies from around the world that illuminate key issues about food in today s world examines how oppression affects diverse people caught up in the food economy and highlights how individuals groups and institutions such as governments but also firms are trying to improve how we interact with the food system Global Foodscapes is a highly accessible and useful text for undergraduate students interested in the global food economy The global range of case studies examples and reference points as well as its original framework allows the text to speak to diverse audiences and generate debate about whether anything and if so what needs to be done about the food system we depend upon so heavily Additional materials such as suggested readings and discussion points help students consider the issues at hand and conduct initial and more detailed research on today s food economy
