Sociology In A Changing World 9th Edition:

Sociology in a Changing World William Kornblum, 2011-01-31 Help your students visualize sociology all around them with William Kornblum's vibrant visual and research based new ninth edition of SOCIOLOGY IN A CHANGING WORLD. Comprehensive and student friendly SOCIOLOGY IN A CHANGING WORLD presents a thematic approach that emphasizes the reality of social change and its impact on individuals, groups, and societies throughout the world. This unique emphasis on social change, which is visited in the book's features, helps students understand our similarities, our differences, and society as a whole. The text carefully balances contemporary and classic theory and research with special attention to the works of female and minority social scientists and cross cultural studies. Kornblum applies all the major perspectives of sociology without giving undue emphasis to any single approach. Additionally, SOCIOLOGY IN A CHANGING WORLD is the chosen text for the Exploring Society Introduction to Sociology Telecourse from Dallas TeleLearning. Challenging yet accessible, interesting, and scholarly, Kornblum's ninth edition helps students think like sociologists long after their college experience. Sociology in a Changing World William Kornblum, 1999-01-01 Sociology, Changing A World William Kornblum, 1988-01-01 Alternative Sociologies of Religion James V Spickard, 2018-03-06 Uncovers what the sociology of religion would look like had it emerged in a Confucian, Muslim, or Native American culture rather than in a Christian one. Sociology has long used Western Christianity as a model for all religious life. As a result, the field has tended to highlight aspects of religion that Christians find important, such as religious beliefs and formal organizations, while paying less attention to other elements. Rather than simply criticizing such limitations, James V Spickard imagines what the sociology of religion would look like had it arisen in three non-Western societies. What aspects of religion would scholars see more clearly if they had been raised in Confucian China? What could they learn about religion from Ibn Khaldun, the famed 14th century Arab scholar? What would they better understand had they been born Navajo, whose traditional religion certainly does not revolve around beliefs and organizations? Through these thought experiments, Spickard shows how non-Western ideas understand some aspects of religions even of Western religions better than does standard sociology. The volume shows how non-Western frameworks can shed new light on several different dimensions of religious life, including the question of who maintains religious communities, the relationships between religion and ethnicity as sources of social ties, and the role of embodied experience in religious rituals. These approaches reveal central aspects of contemporary religions that the dominant way of doing sociology fails to notice. Each approach also provides investigators with new theoretical resources to guide them deeper into their subjects. The volume makes a compelling case for adopting a global perspective in the social sciences.

Redefining Higher Education Melvyn L. Fein, 2014-04-18 Higher education is in trouble. Commentators of all stripes bemoan escalating costs and diminishing quality. Solutions have been offered from all quarters but tend to be piecemeal and all too often ideological In this tough minded look at the history current climate and future of university education in the United States Melvyn L. Klein reexamines the mission of higher education and outlines what institutions can do to better prepare students for an ever more complex techno commercial society Klein argues that students must have the opportunity to explore and discover what works for them and that the most important tool for institutions of higher education is self direction Professors must be allowed to teach in their own ways bringing their own experience into the classroom Since university missions differ both universities and professors need the freedom to make decisions independently The imminent need is for a democratic elite consisting of self directed leaders who possess technical and social expertise as well as personal motivation The tools for change are appropriate curricula communities of learners and a genuine marketplace of ideas While there is no magic bullet Klein contends that we can and should build on the achievements of the past so as to evolve more responsive educational institutions those that promote merit responsibility and universalism

The Warfare between Science & Religion Jeff Hardin, Ronald L. Numbers, Ronald A. Binzley, 2018-10-15 A very welcome volume of essays questioning the presumption of irreconcilable conflict between science and religion British Journal for the History of Science The conflict thesis the idea that an inevitable irreconcilable conflict exists between science and religion has long been part of the popular imagination The Warfare between Science and Religion assembles a group of distinguished historians who explore the origin of the thesis its reception the responses it drew from various faith traditions and its continued prominence in public discourse Several essays examine the personal circumstances and theological idiosyncrasies of important intellectuals including John William Draper and Andrew Dickson White who through their polemical writings championed the conflict thesis relentlessly Others consider what the thesis meant to different religious communities including evangelicals liberal Protestants Roman Catholics Eastern Orthodox Christians Jews and Muslims Finally essays both historical and sociological explore the place of the conflict thesis in popular culture and intellectual discourse today Based on original research and written in an accessible style the essays in The Warfare between Science and Religion take an interdisciplinary approach to question the historical relationship between science and religion and bring much needed perspective to an often bitter controversy Contributors include Thomas H.
