Story

(Put on the cloak. Pretend to open a front door and go in carrying a suitcase)
Phew - that was a long journey! I'm so glad to be home again. (Sit on chair)
I am so pleased to be able to sit in my favourite armchair again. But I have never had a more amazing, more wonderful trip in all my life!
(Stand up again) Anyway, the suitcase is a bit lighter now that I have got rid of all that gold. And I can shake the sand out of my shoes! (Mime shaking sand out of shoes) That came from the desert! We didn't go in a straight line right across the desert; we went a longer way round so that we could keep our camels fairly near to the river. It took us weeks and weeks to get there, and it has taken us weeks and weeks to get home. That's why I'm just arriving home now. It is weeks since the baby was born!

Anyway, it was so well worth it! We saw him, and we gave him our presents. God took us there, and God brought home again.

Now you may ask me, how it did we know which way God wanted us to go? Well, my job is to study the stars. We make pictures of the stars and count the stars and look out for any different stars. And one night, a few months ago, we saw a very special star. We knew it meant that a new king was to be born. So we packed up some presents and set off to find this King. As I say, we travelled for many days until we reached Jerusalem and we went straight to the Palace.

We were very wrong in going to Jerusalem. We had just assumed that if he was a king, he would have been born in the Palace. But anyway, we got our next clue there. The clever men at the Palace got out their books and their Scriptures and their scrolls, and they told us what the scrolls said, that the new king would be born in Bethlehem. That was only a few more miles away, so we set off again. And then we saw the star again. It led us right to the place where the little king was. We were so happy to find him. We gave him our presents, and bowed down and worshipped him.

Then that night the strangest thing happened. We all had exactly the same dream. Each one of us dreamt that God was telling us to go home another way. God told us that we were not to go back to King Herod. So we came home a different way.

And here I am! Just got home! Nice to sit in my old armchair again.

I wonder what they will do with all that gold? Perhaps they will use it to escape from King Herod!
