Wanderlust Rebecca Solnit, 2000-04-01 Draws together many histories of anatomical evolution city design of treadmills labyrinths of walking clubs sexual mores to create a portrait of the range of possibilities for this most basic act Argues that walking as history signifies walking for pleasure for political aesthetic social meaning Hones in on the walkers whose everyday extreme acts have shaped our culture from the peripatetic philosophers of ancient Greece to the poets of the Romantic Age from the perambulations of the Surrealists to the ascents of the mountaineers There is a profound relationship between walking thinking walking culture Argues for the necessity of preserving the time space to walk in an ever more auto dependent accelerated world

Reconnecting with John Muir Terry Gifford, 2010-01-25 Advancing for the first time the concept of post pastoral practice Reconnecting with John Muir springs from Terry Gifford's understanding of the great naturalist as an exemplar of integrated environmentally conscious knowing and writing Just as the discourses of science and the arts were closer in Muir's day in part arguably because of Muir it is time we learned from ecology to recognize how integrated our own lives are as readers students scholars teachers and writers When we defy the institutional separations purposely straying from narrow career tracks the activities of reading scholarship teaching and writing can inform each other in a holistic post pastoral professional practice Healing the separations of culture and nature represents the next way forward from the current crossroads in the now established field of ecocriticism The mountain environment provides a common ground for the diverse modes of engagement and mediation Gifford discusses By attempting to understand the meaning of Muir's assertion that going to the mountains is going home Gifford points us toward a practice of integrated reading scholarship teaching and writing that is adequate to our environmental crisis

Ruptured Commons Anna Guttman, Veronica J. Austen, 2024-10-10 At a time when we have all lived through profound and unexpected disruptions to our shared spaces routines economies societies and work lives this book considers the nature and implications of rupture the commons and their conjoining Addressing rupture and disruption through the lens of literary and cultural studies this volume traverses genres film fiction theatre poetry and the graphic novel and continents and addresses histories and identities as ecologies The focus is resolutely contemporary with nearly all of the texts being analyzed produced within the last decade Beginning with the history of and debates about Garrett Hardin's famous tragedy of the commons Ruptured Commons engages with texts and cultures of disaster wherein artistic expression becomes a form of protest and a path to change This collection both critically examines our arrival at and understanding of this moment and explores diverse and hopeful visions for the future embedded within contemporary culture

Errant Bodies, Mobility, and Political Resistance Gregory Blair, 2018-09-03 This book explores a type of wandering referred to as errant bodies This form of wandering is intentional without specific destination and operates as a means of resistance against hegemonic forms of power and cultural prescriptions Beginning with an examination of the character and particulars of being an errant body the book investigates historical errant bodies including Ancient Greek Cynics Punks Baudelaire Situationists Earhart Kerouac Fuller Baudrillard Hamish Fulton and Keri Smith Being an errant body means stepping to the side of dominant culture creating a potential means of political resistance in the technologically driven twenty first century

The Arts and the Legal Academy Zenon Bankowski, Maksymilian Del Mar, Paul Maharg, 2016-04-01 In Western culture law is dominated by textual representation Lawyers academics and law students live and work in a textual world where the written word is law and law is interpreted largely within written and printed discourse Is it possible however to understand and learn law differently Could modes of knowing feeling memory and expectation commonly present in the Arts enable a deeper understanding of law's discourse and practice If so how might that work for students lawyers and academics in the classroom and in continuing professional development Bringing together scholars legal practitioners internationally from the fields of legal education legal theory theatre architecture visual and movement arts this book is evidence of how the Arts can powerfully revitalize the theory and practice of legal education

Through discussion of theory and practice in the humanities and Arts linked to practical examples of radical interventions the chapters reveal how the Arts can transform educational practice and our view of its place in legal practice Available in enhanced electronic format the book complements The Moral Imagination and the Legal Life also published by Ashgate

Configurations of Migration Jennifer Leetsch, Frederike Middelhoff, Miriam Wallraven, 2023-10-24 In a global context in which phenomena of migration play an ever more important role the ways individual and collective experiences of migration are covered in the media represented in culture and interpreted are coming under increasing scrutiny This book explores the complex relationship between creative engagements with migration on the one hand and forms of knowledge about migration on the other inquiring into the ways aesthetic practices are intertwined with knowledge structures The book responds to three pressing research questions First it analyses how fictional texts plays images films and autobiographical accounts mediate forms of knowledge about migration Second it identifies the ways in which specific media approaches and aesthetic practices influence people s ideas about and awareness of migratory experiences in a globalized world Finally it delineates how historical perspectives help us compare epistemological approaches to migration in the nineteenth twentieth and early twenty first centuries and how these approaches affect the way critics and the public responded to and thought about different forms of forced migration Bringing together renowned scholars working across disciplines it investigates the possibilities and limitations that different media present when it comes to reflecting on communicating and imagining experiences of migration and how these representations in turn create ways of knowing and understanding migration

Natives, Newcomers, Exiles, Fugitives Jonah Raskin, 2003 Reviews and interviews of 32 authors of both fiction and non fiction who live or have lived in northern California Wanderlust , 2019 Walking in the Wilderness Michaela Keck, 2006 This book investigates the adaptation and transformation of the European peripatetic tradition in nineteenth century America in particular Henry David Thoreau s literary walks and their visual counterparts in American landscape painting Although Thoreau s perambulations in New World nature have been stated in scholarship no study has offered a comparative analysis nor has the philosophic contemplative aspect of his art of Walking been sufficiently studied The present study puts his walking pattern into a transatlantic as well as interdisciplinary context and illuminates the uniquely American aesthetic philosophic considerations underlying the genre of the walk in American nineteenth century literature and painting
