

FROM THE AUTHOR OF REBECCA

'An eloquent elegy on the past of a county she loved so much'
THE TIMES

A photograph of a stone castle on a rocky cliff overlooking the ocean. The castle is built on a steep, dark rock face. The ocean is a deep blue with white foam from the waves crashing against the rocks. The sky is a lighter blue.

Nooks Corners of Cornwall (Classic Reprint) Catharine Amy Dawson Scott,2015-08-04 Excerpt from Nooks Corners of Cornwall At first sight it seems incongruous to speak of the Nooks and Corners to be found in so rugged a land as Cornwall The masses of rock at Tintagel Tol Pedn and the Lizard the sheer drop of the High Cliff and the Dodman the moors the cromlechs and the granite tors are so impressive that we are apt to overlook the fertile valleys that intersect the country the coves coombes and pills in which the hillside vegetation is often semitropical and where the houses are embowered in flowering shrubs till they look like Jacks in the Green that have taken root Nor do these picturesque villages sheltered and fruitful this magnificent coast scenery these grey moors comprise the whole of this half smiling half frowning land Here in out of the way places are relics of forgotten creeds and peoples earthworks amphitheatres castles the caves of smugglers and the subterranean hiding places of neolithic man There is so much to interest so much to see almost too much it would seem certainly too much for any one holiday but Cornwall is a place to go to again and again to go to till it seems as your own land and its people have forgiven you for being a foreigner This Cornish folk clannish but kindly has of late years been decreasing Not only is there the competition of foreign tin but the lodes being now deep the cost of home production has proportionately increased About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

An Unsentimental Journey Through Cornwall (Classic Reprint) Dinah Maria Mulock Craik,2015-07-10 Excerpt from An Unsentimental Journey Through Cornwall I believe in holidays Not in a frantic rushing about from place to place glancing at everything and observing nothing flying from town to town from hotel to hotel eager to do and to see a country in order that when they get home they may say they have done it and seen it Only to say as for any real vision of eye heart and brain they might as well go through the world blindfold It is not the things we see but the mind we see them with which makes the real interest of travelling Eyes and No Eyes an old fashioned story about two little children taking a walk one seeing everything and enjoying everything and the other seeing nothing and thinking the expedition the dullest imaginable This simple tale which the present generation has probably never read contains the essence of all rational travelling About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in
