Volunteer Tourism Popular Humanitarianism In Neoliberal Times New Directions In Tourism Analysis:

Volunteer Tourism Mary Mostafanezhad, 2016-02-17 Crossing disciplinary and chronological boundaries Volunteer Tourism Popular Humanitarianism in Neoliberal Times is the first full length treatment of volunteer tourism from a longitudinal ethnographic perspective Volunteer tourism one of the fastest growing niche tourism markets in the world is a type of tourism in which tourists pay to participate in conservation humanitarian or development oriented projects Volunteer Tourism is a comprehensive and comparative study of the perspectives of Thai host community members NGO practitioners and international volunteer tourists The book thus shines an ethnographic lens onto the complexities and contradictions of the volunteer tourism experience in northern Thailand Drawing on cross disciplinary perspectives in geography and anthropology as well as development tourism and cultural studies Volunteer Tourism illustrates how a focus on sentimentality in the volunteer tourism encounter obscures the structural inequalities on which the experience is based Such a focus situates volunteer tourism within the commodification and sentimentalization of development and global justice agendas which hail the new moral consumer and reframe questions of structural inequality as questions of individual morality As a result albeit inadvertently the practice of volunteer tourism serves the continued expansion of the cultural logics and economic practices of neoliberalism

Activism and the Detention of Migrants Tom Kemp, 2023-12-05 This book is an empirically grounded critical engagement with the politics of immigration detention and deportation Focusing on the constitutive tensions and political generativity within the activist practices of the anti detention movement this book examines the distinction between representational and post representational political sensibilities Representational politics centres on representing the interests of disenfranchised people to the state and public and operates primarily within the regime of immigration law Post representational politics focuses on working collaboratively with those in detention to resist and challenge the deportation system Since representational politics is the predominant political imaginary of migrant rights campaigning the book focuses on illustrating and evaluating the role of post representational politics The book argues that the concept of post representational politics is important for understanding and participating in radical opposition to state racism This argument rests on the expanded possibilities it motivates of engaging with and resisting institutions that are poised to co opt resistance the attention it fosters to the situated power dynamics of political activities that collaborate with imprisoned people and its sensitivity to the politically and conceptually generative capacities of everyday embodied practices of resistance To make this argument this book employs innovative methodology to illuminate and engage with the practice based thinking of activist movements about the concepts of solidarity hospitality witnessing and accountability This book will be of interest to scholars and activists with interests in socio legal studies of immigration and refugee law as well as others in social movement studies critical legal studies border criminology and critical theory

Tourism, Recreation and Regional Development Jean-Christophe Dissart, Jeffrey Dehez, Jean-Bernard Marsat, 2016-03-03 What factors contribute to tourism and recreation development How can we characterise stakeholder rationales and organisation modes to enhance tourism resources and foster tourism and recreation services To what extent do tourism and recreation contribute to regional development What changes are taking place in terms of new destinations stakeholders policy objectives Bringing together scholars from the fields of planning economics sociology management studies and geography this book examines cross cutting issues in tourism and recreation with the aim of developing an extended view of leisure time Focusing mainly on France with comparison to the experience of Northern and Southern European countries and North America it combines a diverse range of case studies to address issues such as contrasting rural dynamics changing public policies sustainable development imperatives evolving user behaviour and increasingly diverse recreation activities and stakeholder organisation Specific topics are highlighted such as the role of social capital or culture as factors of recreation development resort organisation from international and experience based perspectives and the usefulness of the capability approach to evaluate tourism impacts on local development Emphasising policy recommendations to help public or collective action on the issues and presenting emerging trends in the field this book should be of interest to students scholars and stakeholders in tourism recreation planning and management

Tourism Encounters and Controversies Gunnar Thór Jóhannesson, Carina Ren, van der Duim René, 2016-03-09 The multiplicity of tourism encounters provide some of the best available occasions to observe the social world and its making s Focusing on ontological politics of tourism development this book examines how different versions of tourism are enacted how encounters between different versions of tourism orderings may result in controversies but also on how these enactments and encounters are entangled in multiple ways to broader areas of development conservation policy and destination management Throughout the book encounters and controversies are investigated from a poststructuralist and relational approach as complex and emerging seeing the roles and characteristics of related actors as co constituted Inspired by post actor network theory and related research the studies include the social as well as the material but also multiplicity and ontological politics when examining controversial matters or events

Tourism and Violence Hazel Andrews, 2016-02-24 Exploring the connection between tourism and violence this book draws on a range of disciplinary approaches including social anthropology cultural geography sociology and tourism studies Ideas and concepts of violence have long been explored in the social sciences literature but in relation to tourism studies specifically the concept has rarely been problematised Drawing on a range of case studies this book demonstrates the relationship between tourism and violence both in its overt physical form and in the social structures and symbolic landscapes that underpin touristic activity Tourism and Violence offers a timely intervention in this field by bringing together for the first time work by scholars who in their different ways are engaging with the concept of violence within touristic settings and practices This unique book paves the way for future research that will probe further the intersections between violence and tourism

Handbook of Neoliberalism Simon Springer, Kean Birch, Julie MacLeavy, 2016-07-07 Neoliberalism is easily one of the most powerful discourses to emerge within the social sciences in the last two decades and the number of scholars who write about this dynamic and unfolding process of socio spatial transformation is astonishing. Even more surprising though is that there has until now not been an attempt to provide a wide ranging volume that engages with the multiple registers in which neoliberalism has evolved. The Routledge Handbook of Neoliberalism seeks to offer a comprehensive overview of the phenomenon of neoliberalism by examining the range of ways that it has been theorized, promoted, critiqued and put into practice in a variety of geographical locations and institutional frameworks. With contributions from over 50 leading authors working at institutions around the world, the volume's seven sections will offer a systematic overview of neoliberalism's origins, political implications, social tensions, spaces, natures and environments and aftermaths in addressing ongoing and emerging debates. The volume aims to provide the first comprehensive overview of the field and to advance the established and emergent debates in a field that has grown exponentially over the past two decades, coinciding with the meteoric rise of neoliberalism as a hegemonic ideology, state form, policy and program and governmentality. It includes a substantive introductory chapter and will serve as an invaluable resource for undergraduates, graduate students and professional scholars alike.

The Relationality of Race in Education Research Greg Vass, Jacinta Maxwell, Sophie Rudolph, Kalervo N. Gulson, 2017-11-01. This edited collection examines the ways in which the local and global are key to understanding race and racism in the intersectional context of contemporary education. Analysing a broad range of examples, it highlights how race and racism is a relational phenomenon that interconnects local, national and global contexts and ideas. The current educational climate is subject to global influences and the effects of conservative hyper nationalist politics and neoliberal economic rationalising in local settings that are creating new formations of race and racism. While focused predominantly on Australia and southern world or settler colonial contexts, the book aims to constructively contribute to broader emerging research and debates about race and education. Through the adoption of a relational framing, it draws the Australian context into the global conversation about race and racism in education in ways that challenge and test current understandings of the operation of race and racism in contemporary social and educational spaces. Importantly, it also pushes debates about race and racism in education and research to the foreground in Australia where such debates are typically dismissed or cursorily engaged. The book will guide readers as they navigate issues of race in education research and practice and its chapters will serve as provocations designed to assist in critically understanding this challenging field. It reaches beyond education scholarship as concerns to do with race remain intertwined with wider social justice issues such as access to housing, health, social economic mobility and political representation.

Archipelago Tourism Professor Godfrey Baldacchino, 2015-04-28. Exploring the conceptual insights provided by the archipelagic twist in the context of tourism principles, policies and practices, this volume draws on an international series of case studies to analyse best practice in branding, marketing and logistics in archipelago tourist destinations. The book asks and seeks to answer such questions as

How to sell a multi island destination without risking a message that may be too complex and diffuse for audiences to grab on to Does one encourage visitors to do island hopping and if so how and with what logistic facilities How does one ascribe specific island destinations within an overall archipelago brand Would smaller islands rebel against a composite branding strategy that actually benefits other islands How does one read or craft transport policies as a function of the reterritorialisation of a multi island space This book pioneers the exploration of the archipelago as tourism study focus and not just locus a heuristic device for rendering islands as sites of different tourism practices industries and policies but also of challenges and possibilities

Volunteer Tourism in the Global South Wanda Vradi, 2012-10-12 This work explores the increasingly popular phenomenon of volunteer tourism in the Global South paying particular attention to the governmental rationalities and socio economic conditions that valorise it as a noble and necessary cultural practice Combining theoretical research with primary data gathered during volunteering programs in Guatemala and Ghana the author argues that although volunteer tourism may not trigger social change provide meaningful encounters with difference or offer professional expertise as the brochure discourse and the scholarly literature on tourism and hospitality often promises the formula remains a useful strategy for producing the subjects and social relations neoliberalism requires Vradi suggests that the value of volunteer tourism should not to be assessed in terms of the goods and services it delivers to the global poor but in terms of how well the practice disseminates entrepreneurial styles of feeling and action Analysing the key effects of volunteer tourism it is demonstrated that far from being a selfless and history less rescue act volunteer tourism is in fact a strategy of power that extends economic rationality particularly its emphasis on entrepreneurship and competition to the realm of political subjectivity Volunteer Tourism in the Global South provides a unique and innovative analysis of the relationship between the political and personal dimensions of volunteer tourism and will be of great interest to scholars and students of international relations cultural geography tourism and development studies

Volunteer Tourism Jim Butcher, Peter Smith, 2015-06-05 Just a generation ago the notion that holidays should be invested with ethical and political significance would have sounded odd Today it is part of the lifestyle political landscape Volunteer tourism is indicative of the growth of lifestyle strategies intended to exhibit care and responsibility towards others less fortunate strategies aligned closely with developing one's ethical identity and sense of global responsibility It sits alongside telethons pay per click Fair Trade and ethical consumption generally as a way to make a difference Volunteer tourism involves a personal mission to address the political question of development It draws upon the private virtues of care and responsibility and disavows political narratives beyond this Critics argue that this leaves the volunteers as unwitting carriers of damaging neoliberal or postcolonial assumptions whilst advocates see it as offering creative and practical ways to build a new ethical politics By contrast this volume analyses volunteer tourism as indicative of a retreat from public politics into the realm of private experience and as an expression of diminished political and moral agency This thought provoking book draws on development political and sociological theory and is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in the phenomenon of volunteer tourism and the politics of lifestyle that it represents Volunteer Tourism, 2008 Emotion in Motion Mike Robinson, David Picard, 2016-05-06 What happens when tourists scream with fear shout with anger and frustration weep with joy and delight or even faint in the face of revealed beauty How can certain sites affect some tourists so deeply that they require hospitalisation and psychiatric treatment What are the inner contours of tourist experience and how does it relate to specific emotional cultures What are the consequences of the emotional cultures of tourists upon destinations How are differences in emotional culture mobilized and played out in the transnational contact zones of international tourism While many books have engaged with the structural frames of tourist practice and experience this is the first to deal with the emotional dimensions of tourism travel and contact and the ways in which they can transform tourists destinations and travel cultures through emotional engagements The book brings together an international array of scholars from anthropology psychiatry history cultural geography and critical tourism studies to explore how the movement to and through the realms of exotic people wild nature's subliminal art spirit worlds metropolitan cities and sexualised others variably provoke emotions peak experiences travel syndromes and inner dialogues The authors show how tourism challenges us to engage with concepts of self other time nature sex the body and death Through a set of ethnographic and historic cases they demonstrate that such engagements usually have little to do with the actual destination but rather are deeply anchored in personal memories repressed fears and desires and the collective imaginaries of our societies Volunteer Tourism Stephen Wearing, 2001-01-01 Volunteer tourism describes a field of tourism in which travelers visit a destination and take part in projects in the local community Projects are commonly nature based people based or involve restoration of buildings and artifacts e.g. restoration of a Buddhist temple in Mongolia Volunteer Tourism Katja Schluzy, 2011-02-16 Inhaltsangabe Introduction Volunteering programs are incredible journeys through remarkable destinations combining unique travel opportunities with meaningful volunteer work This statement taken from the website of Aquila Tours which is one of the first Canadian tour operators offering this kind of volunteer tourism shows how this type of tourism is advertised and sold to the customer as a new kind of travel experience This example illustrates how tour operators describe this kind of tourist experience using word games like Volunteering in order to market this special form of tourism which combines leisure volunteer work and travel This way of spending meaningful holidays is gaining more and more popularity among vastly different demographic categories of people To make a difference while on vacation is already very popular in the U S UK and Australia but is also a concept that is getting more and more attention worldwide The media has played an important role from The Time Magazine to Forbes Magazine articles have been devoted to the idea of blending tourism with community and environmental oriented work Lonely Planet published its first volunteer travel guidebook in June 2007 called Volunteer A Traveler's Guide to Making a Difference around the World as reaction to the growing importance of this travel segment

Newsweek International stated in its article Having fun doing good For some altruistic travelers vacation means more than just a day at the beach furthermore describing the phenomenon as follows It s tourism with a conscience undertaken by travelers who don t want to experience another culture through the windows of a tour bus People are prepared to pay to volunteer and they are even willing to devote holiday time in order to get actively involved and help in environmental conservation projects as well as social projects In Germany this new type of travel is slowly beginning to be considered as an emerging trend and was recognised by the press as early as end of 2006 and has been considerably strengthened since the end of 2007 This phenomenon of combining holidays with volunteer work has even developed a new term integrating both aspects Voluntourism In addition it has created an industry around this the so called Voluntourism Industry The numbers of socially responsible tourists as well as the opportunities available to them are increasing The desire to help is matched by an

Journeys of Discovery in Volunteer Tourism Kevin D. Lyons, Stephen Wearing, 2008 The fast growing phenomenon of volunteer tourism encompasses a diverse range of activities from conserving environments to working with host communities to alleviate poverty However understanding the complex relationship between volunteering and tourism requires a wide analytical framework Theoretical and empirical case studies from leading researchers in the field explore the experiences of the volunteer tourist and the power relationships between volunteers and host communities and commercial non commercial and government entities involved in developing and supporting volunteer tourism Providing an insight into how volunteer tourism is growing and developing this volume will be essential to those interested in sustainable tourism and community and social development as well as commercial operators non government organizations and volunteer management organizations

Providing a unique analysis of current multidisciplinary research on the complex relationships between tourism and the imaginaries of tourist destinations this book traces the links between tourism imaginaries and their religious heaven and political utopia antecedents The substantive chapters are organised into three main thematic sections the first explores the touristic production and consumption of place imaginaries the second analyses the way places are practiced through imaginaries and the role imaginaries play in the tourist experience and the final section explores the way images and the media participate in the creation of tourism imaginaries Cultural Tourism and Sustainable Local Development Luigi

Fusco Girard, Peter Nijkamp, 2009-01-01 Bringing together an interdisciplinary team of leading scholars from North America and Europe this book examines the interface of local cultural resources and modern mass tourism from a sustainability perspective It puts forward innovative methodologies Volunteer Tourism Angela M. Benson, 2010-12-14 Volunteer Tourism is one of the major growth areas in contemporary tourism where tourists for various reasons seek alternative goodwill experiences and activities To meet this demand there has been a surge in volunteer programmes offered in range of destinations organized by a variety of charities and tour operators which is predicted to continue to grow in the future

Volunteer Tourism provides an in depth analysis of the complex issues associated with traditional and contemporary volunteer tourism. Reflecting the growth in this phenomenon, this book provides a cohesive collection of chapters written from a range of international expert scholars and researchers. The theoretically rich, practically applied and empirically grounded contributions are based on current and diverse research in the area. This groundbreaking volume explores topics which have not been addressed in the literature before, such as the impact on host communities, introducing new areas and ideas to the field. The diverse range of themes are identified and addressed, including volunteer tourism and sustainability, to uniquely the examination of volunteer tourism stakeholders, volunteers themselves, the host to guest exchange and the organizations and management of volunteers. These themes are examined in a range of international case studies demonstrating the wide range of issues associated with volunteer tourism. This volume is a timely addition offering an innovative approach to the area. Volunteer Tourism will be of interest to both students and researchers interested in tourism, leisure and development, as well as non academics, practitioners, NGOs, government officials at all levels.

Volunteer Tourism Tabea Herbut, 2013-01-03

Master's Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject Sociology / Work Education / Organisation, grade 1.0, Technical University of Munich, Lehrstuhl für Forstwirtschaft und Ressourcenmanagement, language English, abstract: Since the 1970ies, volunteer tourism has sparked academic as well as public interest and debate. This thesis consists of a concise analysis of current theories and research interests in this field. It points out challenges and opportunities of international volunteering using a case study from South Africa, especially focusing on the area of research volunteering in a conservation context. The analysis of attitudes and perceptions of the volunteer as well as potential benefits the experience may have on their future life in general and career, especially, has been carried out by means of an online survey. Further similarities and differences between general volunteers and research volunteers have been established and analyzed, leading to the insight that altruism combined with the desire to travel and experience a different culture are central motivators to both groups and similar perceived benefits are attributed to volunteering. This study concludes that research volunteering can be especially beneficial to all parties involved if design and realization of the project are given great consideration and suggests further research into the complex task to develop mutually beneficial volunteering projects despite ongoing commodification of this area of sustainable tourism.
