tracks Training Days: The Subway Artists Then and Now Henry Chalfant, Sacha Jenkins, 2014-10-14 Authentic first person accounts from the graffiti artists whose creative genius fueled the movement from its beginning in late 1970s and early 1980s New York Late 1970s New York City was bankrupt and its streets dirty and dangerous But the city had a wild raw energy that made it the crucible for the birth of rap culture and graffiti Graffiti writers worked in extremely tough conditions uncollected garbage darkness cramped spaces and the constant threat of police raids assault by security staff and attacks by rival crews It was not unlike practicing performance art in a war zone Yet during the fertile years of the late 1970s and 1980s they evolved their art from stylized signatures to full blown Technicolor dreamscapes Henry Chalfant created panoramic images of painted trains by photographing overlapping shots along the train's length It took time to earn the writers trust and respect but Chalfant became their revered confidant and with Tony Silver went on to produce the classic documentary film Style Wars 1983 Through a series of interviews conducted by Sacha Jenkins we hear the voices of these characters of old New York Quite a few of the original writers are no longer with us but those who have survived have continued to push the envelope as artists and individuals in a new millennium The stories they tell included here alongside iconic raw photographs of their work will enthrall graffiti fans everywhere *Roma Subway Art.
