Relevant Query Answering over Streaming and Distributed Data Shima Zahmatkesh, Emanuele Della Valle, 2020-01-21

This book examines the problem of relevant query answering over the Web and provides a comprehensive overview of relevant query answering over streaming and distributed data. In recent years Web applications that combine highly dynamic data streams with data distributed over the Web to provide relevant answers have attracted increasing attention. Answering in a timely fashion i.e. reactively is one of the most important performance indicators especially when the distributed data is evolving. The book proposes a solution that retains a local replica of the distributed data and offers various maintenance policies to refresh the replica over time. A limited refresh budget guarantees the reactivity of the system. Focusing on stream processing and Semantic Web it appeals to scientists and graduate students in the field.

With a dozen or more streams in each of eight regions one of America's one hundred best trout streams flows within a few hours drive of most of the nation's anglers. These are the rivers that anglers dream of visiting. Describing species hatches the flies and lures and when to fish each profile contains information and maps that boosts angler success. Profiles present as well the environmental challenges facing each stream and the role that TU and others play in protecting the fishery. Extensive interviews with anglers for whom each stream is home water add depth to personal observations formed when award winning writer and angler John Ross fished many of these streams himself. Many who buy the book set out to fish all the streams. For others the guide is an essential ingredient in the planning of fishing and family vacations. It's a book that sits at home next to a fly tyer's bench as it is tucked in the console between the seats of a pickup truck. A portion of the sale of each book goes to Trout Unlimited to help protect and sustain coldwater fisheries.
