

Practice Test Review

• IEP information and inclusion:

- Manifestation determination: The purpose of this review is to determine whether or not the child's behavior that led to the disciplinary infraction is linked to his or her disability.
- The psychoeducational model
 - focuses on how teachers must understand the causes of negative behavior and how to help the student acquire self control through reflection and planning.
 - tests knowledge of the federal safeguards of the rights of parents, which include the right to participate in all meetings, examine all educational records, and receive written notice regarding placement.
 - Parents have the right to examine all educational records
- Before a student can be recommended for placement for special education services, there must be evidence showing that a response to intervention (RTI) has been implemented and documented.
 - Documenting interventions implemented by teachers
- Section 504
 - Provide free appropriate public education including those with disabilities, to students with disabilities in the regular education classroom.
- IEP:
 - According to federal law, the school district must give written notice to parents and guardians when changes are made to the identification, evaluation, or educational placement of a child.
 - a change is proposed in the student's Individualized Education Program (IEP)
 - A phone conference with the parents is an acceptable alternative to a face-to-face meeting.
- Inclusion:
 - Children with severe intellectual disabilities need to work on the same academic skills as their classmates, but the activities must be modified and simplified so the children can succeed.
 - Developing parallel but meaningful activities
 - Students with special needs HAVE to go to general education recess, lunch, and specials
